Seven Inches of Snow in City... Warning for Travelers

KINGSTON According to the National Weather Service, it's not over yet.

The first major snowstorm of the season made an appearance on the eastern seaboard Friday, and left up to seven inches of new snow in parts of Ulster County.

Travelers' warnings have been issued for today in several New England states and more heavy snow is expected for New York State. Forecasters say some of it may be dumped in Ulster County and the Catskill Mountain region.

By mid-morning today, it was still snowing lightly in parts of Ulster County, including Saugerties, Phoenicia and New Paltz.

The first few flurries were spotted in the Kingston area Friday afternoon and the storm grew in intensity until it tapered off early this morning.

Hardest hit regions in Ulster County were the mountain areas to the north and west. Belleayre Ski Center in Highmount, at the westernmost reaches of the county, reported five new inches of snow since Friday afternoon. This total, combined with an earlier accumulation of five inches, meant good news for skiers and snowmobilers.

Pre-dawn temperature at the ski center was 21 degrees and officials said it was still snowing.

Here in Kingston, total snowfall for the 12-hour storm was about seven inches. Winds in the city were moderate throughout the night, eliminating most of the drifting that normally occurs.

City sanding crews and plows were out throughout the duration of the storm, but travelers' warnings were still posted and most roads and streets in Kingston were slippery and hazardous.

The same situation existed on most county roads and highways, as well.

Most of the snow that fell throughout the night was light and dry, although some areas of the county were hit by the wet and heavy variety. Ellenville and the Wawarsing area apparently received the biggest break of the storm, with a maximum of three inches of snow reported in that area.

Despite the intensity of the storm, there were no power failures or disrupted service reported by Central Hudson Gas and Electric authorities.

The rest of the state and East coast were not as lucky, however. Rochester was buried under eight inches of snow and officials in that western New York city imposed a "snow emergency" at 9 p.m. Friday.

Albany, on the other hand, reported a total of three new inches of snow by early today and Glens Falls, just 51 miles to the north, had only a trace.

Six inches of snow fell in Buffalo and the Livingston County community of Dansville, while Oneonta and Syracuse and most of Dutchess County recorded four inches. Binghamton had two inches.

The St. Lawrence region in Northern New York was spared the brunt of the storm. Snow warnings for that area were called off after the storm veered suddenly to the south.

The Hudson Valley was apparently the "benefactor" of the sudden shift.

The storm began two days ago in the Midwest, and that section of the country is still feeling its effects. Up to 16 inches of snow fell in parts of Michigan overnight while most other areas received light rain and sleet.

Where it didn't snow, it rained. Baton Rouge, La., recorded 1½ inches of rain overnight and it rained throughout the day in New York City as well.

Busy Night for Area Police, 43 Accidents Reported

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Heavy snows, unplowed roads and hazardous driving conditions gave Ulster County and mid-Hudson police authorities their busiest night of the year.

At least 43 separate traffic accidents were recorded by police in Ulster County alone since the storm began Friday afternoon. All were attributed to the snow-slicked highways.

Most county roads were still listed as "hazardous" by police early today. Motorists were advised to drive with extreme caution in all sections of the county.

The most serious accidents during the storm occurred on the New York State Thruway. At 4:45 p.m. Friday a car carrying five members of a Brooklyn family skidded out of control and flipped over on its roof at milepost 95, four miles north of the Kingston interchange.

Camille Simeone, 30, of Brooklyn and her five-year-old son, Gregory, were rushed to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. Both sustained severe head injuries and both were reported in "fair" condition today by hospital authorities. Three other passengers in the car were treated and released. They were Carmin Simeone, 34; Nina Simeone, 67, and Emile Simeone, 3. The car was traveling north at the time of the crash.

At about 5:40 a.m. today, a one-car crash sent a Brooklyn teenager to Kingston Hospital. Thruway State Police said that a car driven by 19-year-old Steven Chik of Brooklyn spun out of control on the superhighway and crashed into the Route 28 overpass abutment. The car was demolished on impact, authorities said.

Carol Munitz sustained severe head injuries in the crash. She underwent emergency surgery this morning at Kingston Hospital. No condition was available. Chik was reported in shock and Allen Fried, 19, of Brooklyn, a backseat passenger in the car, was not injured.

Thruway troopers reported nine other accidents along the highway since Friday afternoon. None, it was noted, resulted in serious injuries to the occupants of the autos.

During the storm, the Thruway remained open during its entire length. The driving lane today, it was reported, was clear in some sections of the county but conditions were still listed as "hazardous."

Kingston city police reported 12 vehicular accidents overnight, including a six car, chain reaction pileup at 4:10 Friday afternoon on West Chester Street. There were no injuries in that incident.

A pedestrian, however, was injured late Friday when he stepped into the path of a car on Broadway near the intersection of Cedar Street. The driver of the car, William Blair, 26, of Avery's Trailer Park, Kingston told police he stopped for a red light at the intersection and then accelerated when the light turned green. William Tubby, 53, of 78 Cedar Street, crossing Broadway at the time, walked into the path of Blair's car and was struck down. Blair said he was unable to stop in time. Tubby was taken to Kingston Hospital with injuries to the head, shoulder and face. His condition today was listed as good. No summonses were issued.

A head-on crash on the Boulevard near LeHerb's Restaurant in Kingston sent a local man to Kingston Hospital with facial lacerations. Edward Butler, Box 587 was treated and released following the 6:10 p.m. crash.

Two State University College at New Paltz students were injured when their car skidded off a road in the village. Carol Pearson and Martin Epstein were both treated at Kingston Hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

A 48-year-old Port Ewen woman sustained a fractured right arm and back injuries after she was struck by a car while walking along Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd Friday night. Amy Vitarius, according to Highland State Police, was walking along the southbound lane of the highway when she was struck by a car operated by George F. Dewitt of New York City. She was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Highland troopers reported a total of ten overnight traffic accidents while the Ulster County Sheriff's Department investigated ten incidents directly attributable to slippery highways. Ellenville troopers, Ellenville Village Police, Lake Katrine State Police and Rhinebeck troopers, however, said they investigated no traffic mishaps during the storm. Leeds State Police in Catskill investigated six crashes overnight, including one early today on Route 9W near Cementon. Minor injuries were reported.

Emergency in Britain Over Electricity Crisis

LONDON (UPI)—The government today declared a state of emergency, giving it special powers to deal with a six-day electric power crisis that has meant blackouts, cold homes and shaving by candlelight for millions of Britons.

Queen Elizabeth II hurried back to London from a country weekend to sign the emergency proclamation. It goes into effect immediately, giving the government authority to ration dwindling electricity supplies, black out store windows and neon signs and use troops if necessary.

All week, millions of Britons woke to find their homes and streets in darkness, electric central heating and stoves switched off for hours at a time and no means of cooking meals or heating coffee.

Millions had to wash and shave by flickering candlelight. Restaurants and hotels also were forced to serve meals by candlelight.

Television and radio programs went off the air without warning when sudden power cuts hit their transmitters.

Traffic lights were hit, too, resulting in gigantic rush hour traffic jams.

Hospitals, old age homes and elderly Britons living alone were among the worst sufferers.

The mounting discomfort touched off an almost unprecedented outburst of public hostility against the power workers.

Pubs and stores refused to serve them. Some were heaved off buses by irate conductors. Electricity offices received thousands of abusive telephone calls.

The decision to proclaim a state of emergency came at a two hour cabinet meeting presided over by Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Talks on a wage dispute had broken down between the government and representatives of 128,000 electrical workers whose week-long work-to-rule and overtime ban has cut supplies of electricity to the crisis point.

The power shortages came at the height of the Christmas shopping season, and Britons were showing signs of increasing anger over the crisis which has blacked out millions of homes, including Buckingham Palace, and forced scores of schools to close.

The blackouts recalled the grim days of World War II when total blackout was in force throughout Britain.

After the cabinet meeting today, officials said emergency regulations restricting the use of electric power will be placed before Parliament on Monday for debate within seven days.

The rules will remain in force 28 days and may then be renewed for additional 28-day periods. A parliamentary vote approving the regulations is required for each extension.

The emergency powers would also allow the government to call in troops but officials said earlier this week such a step was unlikely for practical reasons. The operation of power stations is a highly technical field for which soldiers are not normally trained.

The last state of emergency in Britain was proclaimed during a nationwide dock strike last July and it remained in effect for 19 days. States of emergency were ordered during strikes in 1966, 1955, 1949, 1948 and 1926.

The present crisis stems from demands by electric workers for a 30 per cent increase in pay. The state-run electricity council has refused to go beyond 10 per cent.

One Man Killed in New York City Explosion

New York City firemen survey the blackened shell of Ryan's Bar and Grill across from City Hall Park in New York City. An explosion touched off by a gas leak at about 2 a. m. today threw glass, debris and equipment from the bar into the street, killing a customer. More than 60 persons were injured, 11 of them critically. Firemen continued their search for four missing persons. (UPI Photo)

Negotiations to Begin In Hughes Power Struggle

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — With both sides holding handwriting experts in the wings, serious negotiations appear ready to begin in the struggle for control of Howard Hughes' vast Nevada holdings.

A court session Friday ended with a two-hour closed discussion in the judge's chambers, after which a source close to one side said, "They have agreed to negotiate."

The parties had no comment, but Chester Davis, general counsel for the parent Hughes Tool Co. of Houston, Tex., later silenced a company director who walked from the courtroom saying, "Now let me understand the ground rules..."

Two principals in the battle for Hughes' $30 million casino, hotel, mining and real estate empire in Nevada—Robert Maheu and Hughes Tool vice president C. J. Collier—shook hands and talked amiably in the courtroom.

Maheu, who has run Hughes' Nevada operations since the billionaire reclusive came to the state four years ago, was fired a week ago by tool company directors who said they were acting for Hughes.

Maheu obtained a court order against his dismissal in the belief that Hughes would not discharge him. Friends say he was also concerned about Hughes' well being.

Hughes is reported well and on a vacation in the Bahamas.

A letter attributed to him arrived here Thursday expressing his dissatisfaction with the tool company directors for failing to get rid of Maheu.

Maheu's order was challenged during four days of court hearings this week.

For the past two days, two handwriting experts have been in the courtroom waiting to testify. They are Charles Appel of Washington, D.C. for Maheu and George Bradford of Long Beach, Calif., for the company.

A witness said Friday that Appel had examined and found to be "an imitation" the signature "Howard R. Hughes" on a document giving company officials power of attorney for Hughes.

In 1962, Appel identified as forged the Hughes signature on a document introduced by Davis in a New York federal court when Hughes was battling for control of Trans World Airlines as its majority stockholder.

The case ultimately ended in a $137-million mismanagement judgment against Hughes.

Appel, who has testified in courtrooms throughout the world including the Lindbergh kidnapping trial, was on the stand briefly Friday. He had only stated his qualifications when another witness replaced him.

The second witness, Frank Doyen, said he was dispatched by Maheu, his uncle, to bring the power of attorney and other documents signed by Hughes to Appel in Richmond, Va.

After examining the documents, said Doyen, Appel prepared a telegram saying in part, "In my opinion this is an imitation."

Bradford said earlier outside the court that he had found the Hughes signature was valid.

Eagle Scout Is Suspected Of Killing Four in Family

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (UPI) — John Rice Jr., 18, was to be promoted to Eagle Scout Friday night, but the ceremony was not held. Nobody could find him.

Friends said John was quiet, inquisitive, conscientious outdoors and gun enthusiast and a good student at New Canaan High School. Lt. Walter Foley of the state police barracks at Westport said John "is very dangerous."

A nationwide alert has been issued for young Rice who has been missing since his mother, sister, brother and grandmother were found brutally slain in their suburban home Thursday.

Police concentrated their search efforts on camping sites for the six-foot-one, 200-pound youth with a severe case of acne who was an avid outdoor sportsman. Police said the family car, a 1965 tan Chevrolet, was missing and that the youth was armed with a .22 caliber pistol and a 16-gauge shotgun. He had some money from his mother's purse, they said.

"We've got to catch this guy," Police Chief Henry E. Keller said. He called young Rice the "missing link" in the case and said "we want to question him."

John Rice Sr., who left for work at 5 a. m. Thursday, found the bodies about 2 p. m. on returning from a concession he operates at a gun factory in Hamden.

His wife, Mrs. Janet Rice, 44, who worked from 3 p. m. to midnight as night supervisor at Greenwich Hospital, had been slain with an ax and dagger. Her mother, Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick, 73, who died four hours later in a hospital, had her skull fractured by hammer blows.

Stephen Rice, 16, was killed with an ax and hammer and Nancy Rice, 14, was strangled with a necktie.

John Rice Jr., who once said he wanted to become a geologist, was an honor student at New Canaan High School where teachers described him as "conscientious," "quiet" and a "contributing member of the class."

Neighbors said the Rices were a "quiet family" with Nancy and Stephen seeming to be the more outgoing. John Jr. "stayed to himself a lot," one neighbor said.

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — More than 100 vehicles were involved in a pileup during heavy fog on the Milan-Turin superhighway Friday. One man was killed and 12 injured.

LOOKING FOR CLUES—Investigators look for clues in the rubble left by a bomb which exploded in the east end of Summerfield Hall at Kansas University at Lawrence Friday. The explosion injured three students, none of them seriously. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Texas Republican Elated Over Nomination to U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's nominee to be ambassador to the United Nations is a Texas Republican in love with elective politics but hungry for service in the international arena.

"This is a new frontier," Rep. George Bush said Friday of his assignment. "The enthralling thing about it is the new friends to meet and problems to solve."

Chatting with newsmen in his congressional office over coffee and Christmas cookies, Bush, 46, said, "This is what I wanted to do."

Bush said the President first discussed the appointment with him Wednesday—48 hours before he was appointed to succeed career diplomat Charles W. Yost, highest-ranking Democrat in the Nixon administration.

Bush, a four-term member of the House, was defeated by former Rep. Lloyd Bentsen in the Texas Senate race Nov. 3 and had been suggested as a likely appointee to other administration posts or as chairman of the Republican National Committee.

But, in talking with newsmen, he left no doubt he is excited about prospects of the U.N. ambassadorship.

"It's a broad thing, and I'm sure a lot of it is administrative, like running a business."

It was while running his own business—as president of the Zapata Off-Shore Co. of Midland, Tex., from 1954 to 1966—that Bush toured much of the globe selling his firm's oil well-drilling services.

The business made him a millionaire.

Bush, while informal and friendly with newsmen, was firm in his determination to duck substantive international issues until he is questioned by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and his nomination is considered by the full Senate.

Bush says he expects no trouble winning the Senate's nod to head the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

He is a native of New England and graduated Phi Beta Kappa in economics from Yale University. While there, he played varsity baseball three years.

Nixon, Dayan Discuss Middle East Situation

By United Press International Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan met with President Nixon Friday to discuss the Middle East situation and the possibility of Israel returning to the U.N.-sponsored peace talks.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said after the 45-minute meeting it was "a visit to exchange views and increase understanding as relates to the Middle East."

Dayan also met with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, but declined to say more than "it was very instructive to me."

The Israeli defense minister came to the United States bearing Israel's terms for returning to the indirect talks with Egypt and Jordan, diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said before he left.

Jordan's King Hussein, who met with Nixon the day before Dayan, said in New York that unless there is a peace settlement in the Middle East "an explosion could occur." He made the remarks Friday night during a television interview.

In Jordan, the government and Palestinian guerrillas were holding new talks on ways to end violence which had hit the nation in the past 10 days. A government spokesman said guerrillas attacked a local power station Friday, but were driven off after 90 minutes of fighting.

State Takes Action On Request by Savago

KINGSTON

Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago's request for a regional juvenile detention facility received immediate action from the state this week.

Within six days of the passage of a resolution calling for the inclusion of Ulster County in a state survey which it is hoped will result in the establishment of funds for a detention facility, Savago received word from the State Commissioner of Social Services, George K. Wyman assuring him that Ulster will be included.

According to Savago, the New York State Department of Social Services has contracted with the National Association on Crime and Delinquency for a survey which it is hoped will provide the necessary data for funding by the State Legislature at its next session for the construction and staffing of regional secure juvenile detention facilities.

The County Legislature, meeting Dec. 3, went on record favoring such a contract and requested that Ulster be included. Wyman, in his letter to Savago, thanked him for bringing the matter to his attention.

Senior Yule Fete

Senior Citizens of the Town of Esopus will have a Christmas party at a luncheon meeting Monday noon at the town hall, Port Ewen.

Those attending will bring a covered dish and a gift for exchange.

Ulster Senators Defeat Suffolk Quintet

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON—Somehow, somehow, every one who was supposed to be at Kate Walton Field House last night made it and even about 200 spectators who could have been nice and warm at home were there too, as Ulster County Community College defeated Suffolk Community, 71-62.

For awhile it looked like the game was going to go the route of the others in the area, that being postponement, but the Suffolk team left early enough to make the trip from Long Island and the officials, Mike Margello and John Gazzola, though 15 minutes late, also arrived.

Margello, a veteran referee, said he left from New York City, "half past yesterday."

But despite the frigid conditions on the outside, Suffolk and Ulster kept the Field House warm with some sharp shooting in the early going. The Senators finally broke away to come from two down to nine ahead, 29-20, but never were able to really shake the defending Region XV champions.

The Clippers took advantage of UCCC turnovers and the Senators' inability to handle 6'8" Ed Dempsey to come back and make the score, 40-37, at the half.

Ulster struck quickly after intermission primarily on the strength of defensive work by George Civile and top-notch inside play by Glenn Berry and Cliff Weeks. Before long the Senators had upped their margin to eight and soon thereafter they were ahead by 14.

Civile was the key with heads up contributions. The Ulster field general forced several Suffolk turnovers and helped turn them into Senator points.

Captain Berry was the offensive star of the first half with 15 using a variety of twists and turns to get the ball in the air and in the bucket. He spent the final 20 minutes as a rebounding wizard.

The ever-present Mr. Weeks always seemed to be near the ball in tight action under the boards. Most of his baskets were from underneath creating fouls and if he knew how to hit from the line better he would have come close to doubling his total of 17 points.

Roger Govantes was a big factor in the Ulster win as he found the range for 17 points on drives and outside shots.

Suffolk was a fine team but not nearly the same outfit that took it all in the Region last year. Only senior Rick Doran was back and the Clippers high scorer, Harold Grate, was sidelined with muscle spasms. But Suffolk was by no means a push-over.

"We beat a good ballclub," Senator Coach Mike Perry said. The play of Civile and the fact that "we moved the ball well," pleased the Ulster mentor.

It was the third win in a row for Ulster and put the season record at 4-2. Suffolk dropped to 3-2, the loss being their second straight.

The Senators get back into action on Wednesday with a Mid-Hudson Conference clash with Rockland Community. Game time at the Field House is 8 p.m.

REBOUNDS: Pat Harder, former Coleman High School great, earned a starting berth in the contest. Assigned to guard the big man, Dempsey, he flirted with foul trouble and finally did foul out midway through the second half. Before he left he managed eight points. . . In the crowd last night was former New Paltz State cage coach Doug Sheppard.

The box score:

ULSTER (71)	SUFFOLK (62)
Berry 6 19 Brown 5 213
Civile 2 4 8 Chucholo 0 0 0
Govantes 8 17 Dempsey 6 8 20
Harder 4 0 8 Doran 4 0 8
McClelland 0 0 0 Harmon 4 3 11
Weeks 7 3 17 Kaden 0 0 0
Wilkinson 0 0 0 Letman 1 0 2
De Losa 0 2 2 Smith 3 0 4
Totals 27 17 71	Totals 24 14 62
Scoring by Halves:
Ulster 40 31-21
Suffolk 37 25-22

Kingston High School Swimmers Capture Opener

WARWICK—Kingston High School's powerful 400-yard freestyle relay team picked up seven points by winning the final event of the day as the Maroon swimmers defeated a tough Warwick squad, 51-44. Friday. The meet, a non-league encounter for the KHS team, was staged at the Warwick's pool. It was the first match of the season for both teams.

Warwick, always a powerhouse, led through the first nine events of the 11-trials meet, 39 as a one-step sweep by Mike O'Hara and Sue Helmrich in the 100-yard breaststroke brought the winners within one point.

John Edwards, Kingston's outstanding freshman performer, scored five points with a victory in the 100-yard breaststroke. Edwards nipped Warwick's Rich Yatto. This tied the score, 44-44 going into the final match.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Kent St. John, Jim Gogg, Larry Pizik and Fred Robinson not only won the meet for KHS, but, also set a Warwick pool record. Robinson completed the run, giving the Maroons a two-second victory, crossing the line in 3:52.5. Warwick's time was 3:54.2.

The meet had an auspicious beginning for Coach Ron Gabriele's Maroon Splashers as Warwick swept to victory in the first event of the day; the 200-yard medley relay. The team of Dave Yatto, John McCreary, Charles Papaceno and Lou Meyers swept to victory in 1:56.6.

Kingston's Al DeForest was a double winner in the day's events. DeForest got Kingston O'Hara took the 200-yard med-back on the winning track with a victory in the 200-yard freestyle, hitting the poolside in 2:14.8. He also captured the 400-yard freestyle in 4:53.8.

Mike O'Hara, Kingston's ace, was also a double winner and set a Warwick pool record in the 100-yard freestyle.

Warwick was led by its superstar Mike Leavy. Leavy won the 100-yard freestyle in :56 and the 50-yard freestyle in :24.5.

"We faced a very strong team," said KHS Coach Gabriele. "My squad did a fine job. We arrived 15 minutes late because of the storm and had little or no warmup. We face Poughkeepsie away on Tuesday, another big one."

Gabriele went on: "I'm proud of the way we were able to come back. The diving team couldn't get very much practice due to our late arrival. And, I'm sure that they are better than this performance might indicate. DeForest, O'Hara and the relay team, along with Edwards, Brinnier and Helmrich did well for us. If we can get by Poughkeepsie, we should do all right the rest of the way."

The Results:

200-yard medley relay: won by Warwick (Dave Yatto, John McCreary, Charles Papaceno, Lou Meyers). T—1:56.6.

200-yard freestyle: Al DeForest (K). Pizik (K). T—2:14.8.

200-yd. individ. medley: Mike O'Hara (K). Yatto (W). Littall (W). T—2:24.

50-yd. freestyle: Mike Leavy (W). Robinson (K). St. John (K). T—24.5.

100-yd. butterfly: Dave Brinnier (K). Papaceno (W). T—1:09.5.

100-yd. freestyle: Mike Leavy (W). Pfeiffer (W). Gogg (K). T—1:05.2.

400-yd. freestyle: Al DeForest (K). Pizik (K). T—4:53.8.

100-yd. backstroke: Mike O'Hara (K). Helmrich (K). Chaffe (W). T—1:05.2—pool record.

100-yd. breaststroke: John Edwards (K). Yatto (W). McCreary (W). T—1:13.

400-yd. freestyle relay: won by Kingston (Kent St. John, Jim Gogg, Larry Pizik, Fred Robinson). T—3:52.5—pool record.

The men of the second—that was Bob Lanier and Chet Walker in the National Basketball Association.

There were 11 seconds left in the game and Detroit was trailing the Boston Celtics 106-102.

Friday night. Lanier then scored and nine seconds later Terry Driscoll for a layup that sent the game into overtime where the Pistons came out on top 121-118, snapping Boston's winning streak at 10 games.

With 37 seconds remaining, Walker hit a 35-foot shot to break an 84-84 tie and then with 15 seconds to go added a free throw to give the Chicago Bulls an 87-86 victory over the Atlanta Hawks.

Joe Ellis and Jeff Mullins waited a little longer to pull out a victory for the San Francisco Warriors. There were 96 seconds left when Ellis and Mullins went to work, hitting field goals for a 102-101 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

In other NBA action, Milwaukee smashed Cleveland 134-92. Portland topped Buffalo 120-105. Los Angeles tripped Seattle 126-118 and San Diego beat Phoenix 110-104.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets took Kentucky 128-99. Virginia outlasted Texas 146-136. Indiana edged Carolina 155-148 in two overtimes. Memphis nipped Denver 102-100 and Utah mauled Pittsburgh 129-100.

Lanier, who opened the overtime period with two quick goals, finished with 26 points, 14 had 26 for Phoenix.

Bruins Relax Against Foe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The UCLA Bruins, the country's top-ranked college basketball team, may be getting overconfident from their success.

Johnny Wooden, coach of the national collegiate champs who have compiled an amazing 123-4 won-lost record in their last 127 games, thought his players were "too lax" in whipping U. of Pacific 100-88 Friday night.

"There was too much one on one stuff," commented the Wizard of Westwood after the Bruins had upped their current winning streak to eight, including 3-0 this season.

"The defense was effective in spots, but over-all they were too lax," Wooden said.

Dick Edwards, the UOP coach, saw the game at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion in a different light.

"What can I say but that UCLA is a marvelous team," Edwards said. "I thought we played very well. We made some mistakes and we paid the price."

Pacific led 20-19 early in the game, but with Curtis Rowe leading a balanced attack, the Uclans were ahead 57-42 at the half. Rowe finished with 28 points. John Giannelli led UOP with 22.

Southern California and Villanova, No. 9 and No. 10, respectively, in this week's Associated Press poll, also won. So did No. 18, Oregon. Army, No. 14, was the only team in the AP Top Twenty, to lose.

Led by Paul Westphal's 32 points, Southern Cal crushed Brigham Young 101-65. Villanova routed Murray State 97-63 behind Tom Ingelsby's 24 points.

Stan Love, 6-foot-9 star of the Ducks, scored 24 points and led Oregon over Texas A&M 94-71 in a first round game of the Bluebonnet Bowl. Houston beat Tulane 91-60 and will meet the Ducks in the final tonight.

Army went down before West Virginia 74-71 in the first round of the Mountaineer Classic. Sam Oglesby's 23 points paced the Mountaineers while Doug Clevenger got 26 for the Cadets. Virginia whipped Boston College 79-69 and will play West Virginia in the final tonight.

In other games Wichita State took Kansas State 64-51. Arkansas State overcame Oklahoma 88-73. Nebraska outlasted Texas Christian 69-64. Baylor tripped Arizona 101-91. Dayton drubbed Miami of Florida 91-77 and Long Beach State won the final of the International Classic by beating Los Angeles State 81-73.

Rangers Nip California

By United Press International

Jack Eger's head problems are apparently all cleared up.

Egers, who suffered a concussion a month ago and only recently returned to action, scored two goals in the final period Friday night to give the New York Rangers a 2-1 victory over the California Seals. The triumph helped the Rangers gain a first place tie with the Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division.

Red Berenson and Tim Ecclestone scored within 31 seconds of the second period to lift the St. Louis Blues to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins in the only other scheduled game.

Ted Hampson gave the Seals a 1-0 lead with a little over a minute left in the second period and Egers tied the score at 1-1 at 2:43 of the third stanza. The rookie left winger's power play goal at 7:22 proved to be the winner.

California had a chance to tie in the waning minutes as rookie Jim Krulicki of New York was sent off for hooking with 1:06 remaining. But the Seals, who pulled goalie Gary Smith with 47 seconds remaining for a 6-4 player advantage, could not score against the Rangers' Eddie Giacomin.

Egers' goals were only his third and fourth of the season, with three coming against California.

Berenson hit a 40-foot shot in the second period to put St. Louis ahead 2-1 and Ecclestone's goal, from almost the identical spot, boosted the Blues to a 3-1 lead. Keith McCreary's goal cut the lead to 3-2.

Wally Boyer had given Pittsburgh, which has won only once on the road this season, a 1-0 lead at 9:20 of the first period but Frank St. Marseille tied it with a goal only 21 seconds later.

Pick Dallas and Cardinals

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League's 13 game weekend program begins Saturday this week with two nationally televised toughies matching championship contenders—Kansas City at Oakland and Dallas at Cleveland.

The schedule also lists several other games with title ramifications, particularly the New York Giants at St. Louis in a Sunday clash and the Detroit at Los Angeles match-up that will be nationally televised Monday night.

The winners, it says here, will be Kansas City, Dallas, St. Louis and Detroit. You can watch the Cowboys do it on CBS at 1:15 p.m., EST, Saturday, then flip to NBC for the Chiefs' 4 p.m., start. The Lions-Rams will be seen on ABC Monday night at 9 p.m., EST.

Last week's record was 8-5 for an over-all mark of 45-29-4. And, here we go again:

SATURDAY

Kansas City 17, Oakland 13—The Chiefs have the No. 1 defense in the AFC. The Raiders have the No. 1 offense. Always figure defense to beat offense. The winner clinches the Western Division title in the AFC and a playoff spot.

Dallas 31, Cleveland 24—LeRoy Kelly is running well, for the Browns and they seem to have a hex on the Cowboys in recent years. But you have to appreciate the way Coach Tom Landry is running the Dallas club now. Both teams in title running in respective divisions.

SUNDAY

St. Louis 28, New York Giants 24—The Cardinals are first in

Snow Storm Raises Havoc

Old Man Winter reared his ugly head yesterday, dumping snow, sleet and rain on the ground. And, at the same time, the old weather demon tossed a monkey wrench into the scholastic basketball, wrestling and swimming schedules for the area.

Practically every event planned on the high school level in the Ulster-Dutchess area was cancelled late yesterday afternoon. And, while some hardy souls are going to try and get the games in tonight, most will have to wait for a later date to re-schedule their various events.

Postponed last night were: (basketball)—Onteora at Wallkill, Ellenville at New Paltz, Highland at Pine Bush, John Jay at Saugerties, and Marlboro at Rondout; (wrestling)—Kingston at Rondout, Saugerties at Onteora.

On the collegiate scene, Ulster County Community College remained on the schedule with a home game against Suffolk (see Ira Fufeld's account of that game on page four) while the Hawks of New Paltz left early Friday morning for a night game and swimming meet at Fredonia State. The New Paltz basketball team is scheduled for a tilt at Buffalo State tonight.

On today's card, a novice wrestling tournament for high schools is set at Rondout Valley High School. New Paltz State swimmers will be competing at Buffalo State while the collegiate grapplers take the mats against host Potsdam. It was not yet known at press time whether weather or road conditions had forced postponements of these events.

High school basketball finds Amsterdam invading Kate Walton Field House for a night game against the Fighting Maroons of Kingston. The Statesmen of John A. Coleman are scheduled to travel to Catskill for a game with St. Patrick's and Onteora will motor to Walkill for a makeup of last night's postponed Ulster County Athletic League contest. All junior varsity contests will start around 6:30 p.m. with the varsity games following.

New Paltz Tops Red Hook, 26-22

NEW PALTZ Pins in the 167 and 177 pound classes vaulted New Paltz High School to a 26-22 non-league wrestling triumph over Red Hook here Wednesday.

Tom Thoben took care of Bill Reed at 5:00 to grab the 167 victory while Dave Barger was bowling over Steve Doealec at 4:25 in the 177 division. Going into these two matches, Red Hook held a 17-16 edge.

It was the first competition of the season for both clubs. The results: NEW PALTZ 26, RED HOOK 22. 98 lbs.—Mike Mallory (RH) dec. Steve McGarrill (NP), 11-5. 105 lbs.—Peter Lam (RH) pinned Steve Lark (NP), 2:11. 112 lbs.—Todd Grosshans (NP) pinned Hand (RH), 5:33. 119 lbs.—Bob Williams (NP) dec. Steve Mahar (RH), 22-0. 126 lbs.—Kevin Donovan (RH) dec. Casey Kaelin (NP), 11-7. 132 lbs.—Peter Rock (NP) dec. Tom Mann (RH), 16-0. 138 lbs.—Joe Williams (NP) pinned Paul Karporich (RH), 1:15. 145 lbs.—Mike Asip (RH) dec. Jim Spencer (NP), 15-4. 152 lbs.—Tom Row (RH) dec. Roger Jones (NP), 8-0. 167 lbs.—Tom Thoben (NP) pinned Bill Reed (RH), 5:00. 177 lbs.—Dave Barger (NP) pinned Steve Doealec (RH), 4:25. 215 lbs.—Steve Gimmel (RH) won by disqualification over Lou Anderson (NP).

NFC East, the Giants in a second-place tie with the Cowboys. St. Louis could clinch by beating New York if Dallas also loses.

The figuring here is that MacArthur Lane will outrush Ron Johnson for the difference. Baltimore 27, Buffalo 20—The Colts will wrap up the AFC East title with a victory. Teams played to a 17-17 tie in first meeting, but the Bills have lost several players since. Johnny Unitas may not be able to throw long, but still throws accurately.

San Francisco 35, New Orleans 17—Should be a breeze for the 49ers, tied with Los Angeles for the NFC West Lead. Minnesota 35, Boston 10—First meeting between Vikings and their former quarterback, Joe Kapp. Will they ever want to show Joe a thing or two, even though they have clinched NFC Central title.

Atlanta 28, Pittsburgh 21—Bob Berry's scrambling should create enough difficulty to counter the Steelers' defense and let the Falcons sneak in with their fourth victory of the year.

Denver 24, San Diego 20—The Broncos' defense should be able to thwart the Chargers' offense, particularly if Lance Alworth doesn't play for San Diego. He's suing them.

Green Bay 31, Chicago 17—The NFL's oldest rivalry, in its 104th renewal, will go to the harass Roman Gabriel. Philadelphia 27, Washington 21—The Redskins haven't been as solid as earlier in the season. First-string runners Larry Brown and Charley Harroway return, but losing trend may not be reversible.

MONDAY

Detroit 28, Los Angeles 17—Lions looking for playoff berth as NFC runner-up with best record. Rams looking for NFC West title. The pick is the Lions.

on the running of Mel Farr and the NFL's oldest rivalry, in its 104th renewal, will go to the harass Roman Gabriel. Philadelphia 27, Washington 21—The Redskins haven't been as solid as earlier in the season. First-string runners Larry Brown and Charley Harroway return, but losing trend may not be reversible.

Kickers in Finale

MORGAN HILL another ex-Kicker, was the No. 1 kicker in the nation this season. Reinforced by the addition of 2 team in the nation this season.

Kingston Sport Club Kickers "Both are definitely great reinforcements for our team." Sunday to battle Austria Sports Club in an inter-division match that may well be the last of the 1970-71 season.

The additions are Timo Lieko, a former team member who was recently named to the second All New York State Soccer team and Terry Fisher, a Hartwick forward. Hartwick College, coached by Al Miller, in the Premier Division North.

Bavarians, a notch ahead of Kingston, in fifth place, hosts Haledon at College Point Sunday. In other Premier action, College Point is at Spring Valley; Kolping visits Newark; Dalmatians is at Brooklyn; Passaic Sportsfreunde takes on Doxa at Wayne, N. J.

With the advent of cold weather, the German-American Soccer Association schedule is likely to be halted until next March. The Kickers have seven games left in which to rally and save themselves from automatic return to the League Division.

During the winter period, the Kickers will participate in the annual Schaefer Indoor Soccer Tournament Jan. 16-17 and Jan. 23-24 at the White Plains Armory. A total of $7,000 in prizes has been donated by the Schaefer Brewing Company. The standings:

Red Hook Cagers Score Over Visiting Oakwood

RED HOOK Oakwood Academy cagers braved the weather to travel to Red Hook for a Dutchess County Scholastic League Bi-Valley game with the Red Raiders Friday night. However, they should have stayed home, safe and warm as Coach Al Mallan-da's boys did anything but warm the cockles of the visitors' hearts, winning the tilt, 67-45.

Oakwood beat the winners off the boards, grabbing 35 caroms to 24 for Red Hook. However, after trailing by just two points, 9-7 at the end of the first quarter, the visitors fell further and further behind as Red Hook took a 27-16 lead at halftime and was never in trouble from that point on.

Don Totman led the winners with 19 points while teammate Dan Thelberg tossed in 15. Wayne Rice added 12. 6-3 Jim Medley hit 12 for the losers. Davidson Harley and Rich Robertson added 10 markers apiece.

Kathy De Cicco Blasts 619, Second Time on Honor Roll

KINGSTON Kathy DeCicco rolled into the Top Ten for women with a 619 series off lines of 210, 203 and 206 in the Thursday Afternoon Women's League.

It was the second time this season that Kathy has crashed the honor roll and her first 600 set of 612 is now No. 11. The current leader is Barbara Finch with 633.

Anne Cummings just missed the top five singles as she rallied from a 148 opener with 585 off games of 148, 202 and 235. DeCicco's 619 eclipsed the former league high series of 577 held by Betty Ann Eaton, while Cummings' 235 is a new solo beating the old mark of 214 held by Betty Ann Eaton. No team highs were reported.

Red Hook Cagers Score Over Visiting Oakwood

RED HOOK Oakwood Academy cagers braved the weather to travel to Red Hook for a Dutchess County Scholastic League Bi-Valley game with the Red Raiders Friday night. However, they should have stayed home, safe and warm as Coach Al Mallan-da's boys did anything but warm the cockles of the visitors' hearts, winning the tilt, 67-45.

Oakwood beat the winners off the boards, grabbing 35 caroms to 24 for Red Hook. However, after trailing by just two points, 9-7 at the end of the first quarter, the visitors fell further and further behind as Red Hook took a 27-16 lead at halftime and was never in trouble from that point on.

Don Totman led the winners with 19 points while teammate Dan Thelberg tossed in 15. Wayne Rice added 12. 6-3 Jim Medley hit 12 for the losers. Davidson Harley and Rich Robertson added 10 markers apiece.

Fredonia Gains Win

FREDONIA managed a five-point lead at the buzzer, 36-31.

In the second half, it was all Fredonia as the Hawks racked up more turnovers (on bad passes and violations, than points as the host side pulled away.

Kevin Daman was the leading scorer for the winners with 21 points. Amos Goodwine nipped the twine for 19 while Mike Kur-yak had 13 and Dan Fry hit for some hot shooting in the first half. However, the winners Kretzer finished with 16 markers and Valdez had 14 for the Hawks.

Bushey Paces Hawks

FREDONIA records in the loss to Oswego. The swimming of freshman Larry Bushey and junior Steve Schulman paced New Paltz State to its first victory of the season after an opening loss, 70-43, over home town Fredonia State.

Bushey captured wins in the 200 yard individual medley, 200 yard backstroke, and 200 yard breaststroke, to bring to five the number of first places he's garnered in two meets. The former prep school All-American from Pittsfield, Mass., set two varsity records in the loss to Oswego. Schulman zoomed in ahead of the competition in the exciting 50 yard freestyle and again the 100 yard freestyle events.

New Paltz also received first place performances from the 400 yard medley relay team as well as the 400 yard freestyle outfit. Senior captain Mike Janoska triumphed in his specialty, the 200 yard freestyle, and Steve Morgan was an easy winner in the diving.

The Hawks move up to Buffalo State tonight.

DeVicenzo Now Golf Leader

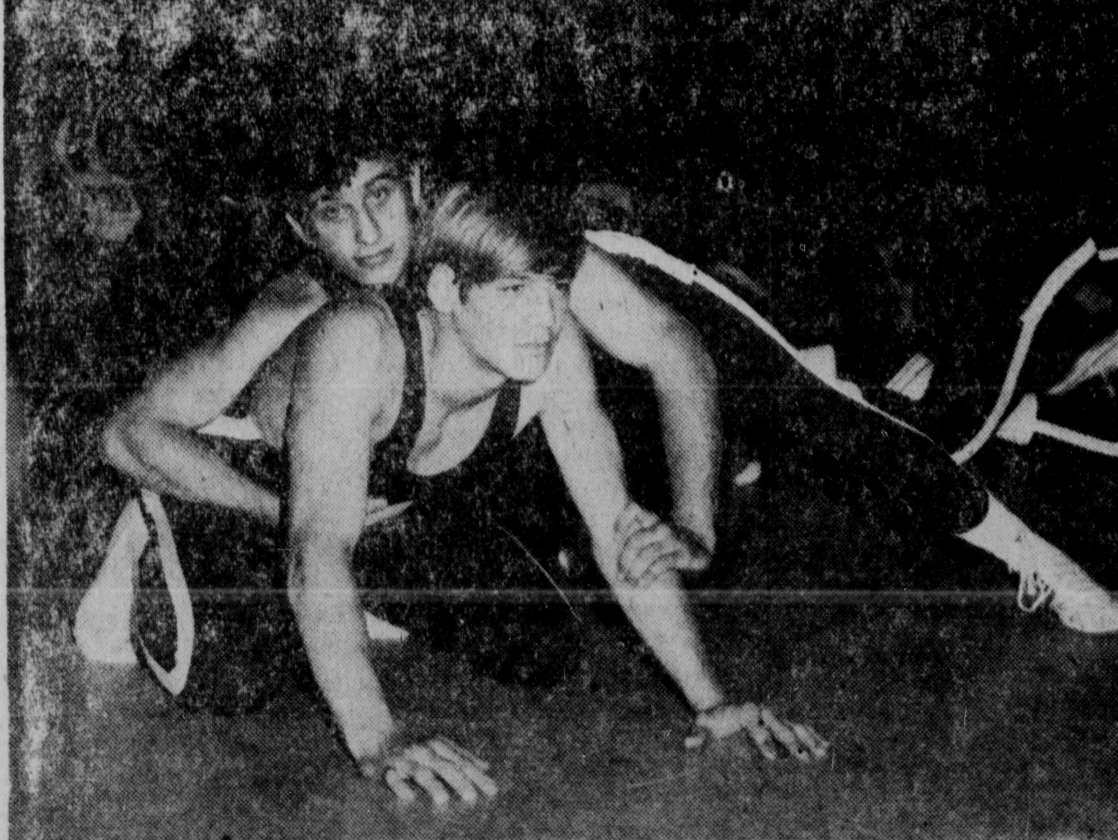

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Luca at even-par 140, three strokes off the pace. Argentine Roberto De Vicenzo shot a one-under par 69 Friday for a one-stroke lead over red-hot Gary Player and two others in the second round of the $10,000 Argentine Master's Golf Tournament.

Player fired a 66 for a two-under-par total of 138 to tie him with Australian David Graham and Argentine Juan C. Quinteros who had a 69 and a 71 over the par-70, 6,542-yard Olivos Country Club Course.

"It was almost a perfect round," said Player, "except for a three-putt green on No. 10. He had six birdies and two bogeys."

"He had an obligation to play well," cracked De Vicenzo. "After all, we invited him here. Personally, I would rather have the lead on Sunday than today."

Billy Casper had a 71 and was tied with Argentines Rodolfo Sereda and Fidel De143.

Few Jobs for Viet Vets

Veterans have special job aids, such as higher unemployment compensation, special government job training programs and GI Bill educational benefits. However, only 20 per cent took advantage of vocational job training and 15 per cent went back to school under the GI Bill. Veterans' rehiring rights were of little effect because few had job experience before entering the armed forces, or did not want to return to jobs they had held briefly while awaiting draft or enlistment.

As the war winds down and Vietnam veterans enter the labor market, they find it increasingly difficult to find jobs without such training. Of some three million Vietnam veterans in the labor force, about 200,000, or 6.5 per cent, were jobless in mid-1970 compared with a national unemployment rate of five per cent, says the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The three million were the result of the yearly turnover policy plus those released by current withdrawals.

"As reduction in the armed forces strength continues, others also will be looking for work, at least temporarily," the bureau adds. "With the number of veterans rising, there is growing concern regarding their employment situation," without such training.

Unemployment among Vietnam veterans 20 to 29 was highest among those under 25, with a jobless rate of 8.7 per cent at mid-1970. For instance, 600,000 found jobs in the year to mid-1970 but returning vets climbed to 700,000, leaving 100,000 on the jobless rolls.

Veterans are eligible for vocational training for eight years. Many more should take it to prepare for civilian jobs. Others who want higher education should finish high school, if they have not done so. They should use the privilege for self-improvement set up for them by a grateful government.

More Red Meat on Table

The American's appetite for red meats will be met by an increase in beef and veal consumption from 114 pounds a person to more than 125 pounds by 1980, according to the agricultural experts of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York. They also saw demand for chicken and turkey rising, as will consumption of processed vegetables, margarine, low-calorie items and convenience foods.

The trend toward a lighter breakfast, coupled with dietary concern about animal fat, is likely to result in a continued decline in per capita use of eggs and some dairy products. Fresh fruit and vegetable consumption may also give way to processed and frozen forms in the 1970s.

In other words, the American table will reflect the emphasis on proteins and vegetables, modified by processed foods for convenience. Consumer spending for food products, now at $105 billion prorated at $512 each person a year, or almost $10 a week, is likely to rise to $175 billion by 1980.

Food prices will go up, but Americans will spend a smaller share of their income on food than consumers in many other countries, for the reason that they will not eat as much. We are becoming a nation of weight watchers.

BERRY'S WORLD

"PLEASE—remember, I'm a male chauvinist!"

"Where Every Vote Counts!"

Henry J. Taylor Says Mao's Wife Has Bloody Hands

Our Central Intelligence Agency finds that Chiang Ching, the wife of Mao Tse-tung, is playing an increasingly decisive role in Red China. Ruthless, suave — a smiler with a knife — and intensely anti-American, Mao's ambitious wife is seizing an appropriate moment.

Mao, 77, is in the age bracket of Tito, Franco and the late Charles de Gaulle, and his wife — like Tito's wife — won her Red spurs as a tough, disciplined and totally dangerous guerilla fighter. Chiang Ching has flint eyes, haystack hair, arms the size of a muscular man's leg and a walk that displays all the bounce of a lead basketball. In short, she is ugly, brutish and violent.

Although her name is hardly known to us, Chiang Ching has always been a power in Peking's inner circle. And, surely, no woman's hands are bloodier than hers.

Under Stalin at least 700,000 members of the Soviet Communist party were murdered or perished in labor camps, and millions of peasants were deliberately starved to death. Hitler caused the death of 6.6 million German men, women and children in his persecutions. Mao has slaughtered, exiled and imprisoned more people than were killed by Stalin and Hitler combined. Chiang Ching was personally an active force in all this.

Moreover, she was the first instigator of the Red students riots that killed countless Chinese and convulsed millions into a new support of Mao.

It was Mao's wife who put the real steam behind the building of Red China's first atom-bomb plant, the immense gaseous diffusion installation near Lanchow. It was she who recruited through agents abroad the indispensable foreign scientists, including one who was a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was she who insisted as well on the alternate production center at Paotow and the expanded missile testing site at Lop Nor.

The drain from Red China's nuclear program has most certainly set back China's economy at least three years — but Chiang Ching has met the internal debates about this by all but seizing the program's leadership.

When Soviet Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin went to Peking after attending Ho Chi Minh's funeral in Hanoi — almost the 30th anniversary of the Ribbentrop-Molotov pact in 1939 — he was not received first by Mao. It was Mao's wife who took over the first private conversation.

Accordingly, at Mao's age and with Mao most certainly ailing, the CIA finds it highly significant that Chiang Ching has secretly scored another coup.

It concerns Mao's dreaded secret services. This apparatus is the immense iron-fisted Hai-Wai-Tiao. It has fearful power in Mao's Peking hierarchy, extends its tentacles into every Chinese village and is absolutely vital to the Mao clique on the death of Mao.

Abroad the worldwide Teh Wu section, which deals with international espionage, is a surprise in its European content. It is estimated that this section contains at least 320 European nationals working covertly for Red China. These include about 26 who are high in the governments of France, Italy and Great Britain.

Organizational, Mao's Hai-Wai-Tiao is the brainchild of the Soviet State Security Committee (KGB), the Komitet Gosudarstvennoi Bezopasnosti, hangman Yuri V. Andropov commanding. And one of the earliest hints of the breach between the U.S.S.R. and Mao, noted by the CIA, was Chian Ching's private condemnation of Andropov.

Behind the scenes, Mao has now eliminated old-time friend and adviser Kang Sheng as Chief coordinator of the Hai-Wai-Tiao. Mao replaced him with Wang Tang-hsing, the chief of his personal bodyguard.

This replacement meant purging the powerful Hsieh Fu-chin. Hsieh Fu-chin was a Politburo member and chairman of the Peking Revolutionary Committee as well as commander of the public security (domestic) army. As Mao's secret police chief he also controlled security at the Lanchow and Paotow atom bomb plants and the Lop Nor testing site.

The CIA agents in Peking find that the downfall of Hsieh Fuchin was the work of Mao's wife. It was the end product of top-level backbiting in which she came out on top. The agents report that Chiang Ching emerges today as China's most powerful woman since the incredible Dowager Empress Tsu-shi, the last of the Manchus, with her power of life or death over the coolie millions.

U.S. Information Service Exports the American Way

By RALPH NOVAK LISBON — (NEA) — The business is export. The merchandise is America, wrapped in bright colors, shining achievements and well-polished democracy, and the seller, here as in 100 other countries, is the U.S. Information Service (USIS).

"You have to sell yourself," said Stephen W. Baldanza, public affairs officer at the USIS office here. "No other country is going to do it for you."

The U.S. Information Agency (USIA) parent agency for the USIS offices, has $183 million to spend in fiscal 1971 and is spending it on packaging America — in books, movies, radio and television programs, exhibits, English lessons, study tours, concerts and lectures, among other things.

The most fertile area for USIS in Portugal is television, which is still a relatively new phenomenon. "We can place one of our films — usually a travelogue sort of thing — on TV here and be reasonably sure 5 million people will see it," Baldanza said. "The Portuguese are in the stage now where they watch everything that comes on the screen, the way we were back in the States around 1950."

USIS also runs a library here that each day draws an average of 300 Portuguese visitors, many of them students, with a cross-section of books and magazines, almost all of them in English.

Although Baldanza acknowledges that he complied with a 1969 directive from Frank Shakespeare,

President Nixon's appointee as USIA chief, to "balance" USIS libraries by adding politically conservative books, the Lisbon library still has more books by John Kenneth Galbraith than by William Buckley and books about or by Lyndon Johnson outnumber those about or by President Nixon 10-4. (Hubert Humphrey even leads Spiro Agnew, 4-2.)

In Portugal, where Baldanza has been stationed for four years, the USIS job was a thankless one until 1968, when long-time dictator Antonio Salazar became ill and was replaced by Marcelo Caetano as prime minister. Salazar had maintained his country in a low-key anti-American point because he was irked by American refusal to support Portugal when India grabbed the old Portuguese colony of Goa and when the Portuguese became involved in fighting black nationalists in their African colonies.

Caetano's policies over the last two years, however, have opened things up for USIS in particular and Americans in general. U.S. tourists are being courted, so much so that TWA has opened 747 service to Lisbon and is drumming up a see-Portugal campaign. The Portuguese have instituted English as a mandatory language in their schools, and people here are beginning to show more interest in America.

"Portugal is awakening, wanting to be part of the world picture," Baldanza says. "So people are starting to come to us, where before we had to go to them. They're coming to us for books and even with questions about things like how our unions and press system work."

The Portuguese showed special interest in American moon explorations, Baldanza said, and they're now beginning to be concerned with pollution problems.

But there is still a residue of misinformation about the United States that the Portuguese gleaned from cowboy and gangster movies, American TV shows, and press reports — slanted and otherwise — about U.S. problems with race, drugs, crime and young people.

"Our job is to present the other side of America," Baldanza said. "Propaganda is a loaded word, so we try to correct the image of other people have of us."

Baldanza has been correcting images for 29 years — in Brazil, Afghanistan, Israel, Congo (Leopoldville) and Ethiopia before Portugal — which makes his career longer than the life of USIA, which was formed in 1953 to combine overseas propaganda activities that had previously been under various agencies.

Baldanza is one of only two USIS Americans in Lisbon on an operation that includes 14 Portuguese and an overall budget of $80,000. It is not, he admitted, "what you would call a high priority installation."

But he still thinks it's a necessary and rewarding job. "We Americans too often think that everybody in the world is our friend," he said. "It's not true."

Jack Anderson Says Pentagon Worries About U.S. Nuclear Weapons Around World

WASHINGTON — There is growing concern in the backrooms of the Pentagon over our ability to protect the nuclear weapons we have scattered around the world.

Plots have been reported by anti-American radicals to seek out and seize U.S. nuclear sites in Europe.

When the military junta took over Greece in April, 1967, junta troops temporarily surrounded one stockpile of nuclear warheads in Greece. They withdrew, of course, without incident. But the Pentagon brass wonder nervously what would happen if a hostile coup should seize control of a country where U.S. warheads are located.

Adding to the apprehension, the GIs guarding the nuclear sites not only are inexperienced but some have been proselytized by anti-war groups. More than one deserter, including one who disappeared behind the communist curtain, is reported to have spent time at a nuclear location.

The troop turnover in Europe, meanwhile, has been so great that only green soldiers often have been available to guard the sites.

Throughout spy-infested Europe, our nuclear warheads are kept in scattered stockpiles at the mercy of friendly but foreign governments, located in some areas where every fifth pair of eyes belongs to a communist.

The purpose is not only to bring Soviet targets within range over our medium-range missiles but to discourage the Soviets ever from over-shooting Europe and striking only American targets. They must knock out all our retaliatory forces, as the Japanese tried to do at Pearl Harbor, or we would bounce back with devastating counterattacks. Our nuclear sites in Europe, therefore, multiply the number of Pearl Harbors the Russians must destroy.

By law, we can't even show our allies the nuclear weapons they permit us to keep on their soil. We train their crews to handle the missiles but the warheads remain invisible to all but American eyes.

However, a high Pentagon official confessed to this column: "Let's not kid ourselves. These governments know where our nuclear firebases are hidden. They may not know the exact locations, but they know the locations." This was borne out by the Greek experience.

To keep the stockpiles secure, we continually rotate them. We might ship some nuclear warheads, say, from Point A to Point B. Before they reach B, secret orders may be flashed to shift them instead to Point C.

"We never leave nuclear weapons in one place for long," explained the official. "We assume every hiding place will eventually be discovered. By shifting and shuffling, we hope to keep a few days ahead of the communists."

Total Failure of Leadership

Nixon 'Swallows' Trade Bill

By BRUCE BLOSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the monstrous protectionist trade bill presently before the Senate should become law, both President Nixon and this Congress could be badly blackened for conspicuous failures of leadership.

The story gets more dismal every day. Checks appear to confirm reports that the President now approves the Senate's combined Social Security-family assistance-trade measure, a blasphemy on the legislative process if there ever was one.

Nixon has come full circle. On July 20 he asserted publicly that he would veto any trade bill that went beyond his recommendations, which were limited to textile import quotas.

He said then that any proposal which got more broadly into import quotas would "set off a trade war" and also prove "highly inflationary." He forecast it would "cost us more jobs in export markets than would be denied us" through the heavy flow of imports.

Looking at a bill which fixes quotas on textiles and shoes and reinforces such limits on oil and meat products, the President today evidently is prepared to swallow his earlier words and take the Senate's jerry-built combine.

The final measure could be much worse, depending on what kind of generalized language favorable to even more quotas would emerge from a Senate-House conference committee. The House bill contains a trigger making quotas automatic for import products taking 15 per cent of U.S. consumption yearly. The Senate's language is tricky-fuzzy.)

The President had wide opportunity to cast his considerable weight against the catch-all proposal as it was taking shape in the house. He stood silent. He also blew his chance to prevent Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long (oil quotas are his baby) from leading the way to combining trade with appealing boosts in Social Security benefits.

Asked about the President's position at that stage, Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans said he had none, that it would become "apparent when and if the measure reached him later."

Thus Nixon's strong words of July 20 never were backed by a show of real strength. The failure of leadership was total. And his new stance, favoring the awful package, shatters the credibility of those words. Why he turned about is still just guesswork.

It is an old one in Washington to say that when a president gives no lead the Congress goes its many ways. But this time history offers plenty of support for that, and so does this trade bill. It is a feeding ground for businessmen's backing.

Yet they don't deserve to get off the hook on the ground they have to yield to special pressures in the absence of White House counterweight.

Highly vocal senators and congressmen have been yelping for years that too much power, especially in the foreign and military fields, has passed to the presidency. They have been trying to take some back.

But if this trade bill is a sample of what they come up with when left to their own devices, they are not fit to play a big foreign affairs role. For this severely protectionist measure threatens to alter foreign economic policy in the most damaging way.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. W. Fulbright, a member of Senate Finance, has been voting and speaking against the trade bill in committee. But the senator is too hung up on the Vietnam war to of billionaire Howard Hughes were so certain he had been hustled off to the Bahamas against his will that they plotted to send an armed rescue party to bring him back to Nevada. Now they have decided to use the courts to compel his return. They still don't believe he went to the Bahamas for a vacation. This seems a long way to go for a change of penthouses, and he has never been seen outside his penthouse in either Las Vegas or the Bahamas.

Wall Street Watch—Congress will keep a critical eye upon the stock market next year. President Nixon, eager to get the economy booming again, is taking steps to increase the money supply and the production rate. This should have a hypodermic effect upon the stock market. Key Congressmen want to make sure the investors are adequately protected. They also want to watch the impact of the great institutional investors — the mutual funds, pension funds, insurance companies and banks — upon the market. The House Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over the securities industry, can be expected to hold exhaustive hearings.

For the birds — Smithsonian head C. Dillon Ripley claims in a published statement that he used money for a "private" grant for his questionable pleasure cruise this summer on the Aegean, not "public" funds as we reported in this column. This sort of dissembling by the distinguished ornithologist is for the birds. All such "private" restricted grants are administered by the public institution Ripley heads. Although sometimes in separate bank accounts, the grants are all under the Smithsonian and are part of its funds. In his statement Ripley also failed to deal with the public funds he spent to get himself over to Greece and back.

Defector Is Loser As U.S. Bumbles

By DON OAKLEY

It is like the Pueblo incident all over again, except that this time it is not American sailors who are paying the price but America's image and her self-respect.

The story of how a Lithuanian radio operator named Simas Kudirka was denied political sanctuary by the Coast Guard — nay, was suffered to be chased and beaten by Russian seamen aboard a U.S. vessel — gets more distressing with each telling.

More information may yet be forthcoming that may cast a different light on things. But as with the capture of the Pueblo spy ship by North Korea, in this case, too, there appears to have been a failure of communication, preparedness and policy reaching into the top levels of the government.

In a report to the President, the Department of Transportation which administers the Coast Guard, states that: "There was inadequate understanding between the Coast Guard and State Department on the most effective channels for communications with the Department of State on refugee and defector cases."

"Before this incident the Coast Guard had not received from the State Department guidance as to general policy with regard to defectors and, therefore, had not issued instructions internally."

To be sure the State Department had furnished such guidance to the Coast Guard district office in Miami regarding Cuban refugees, but "when this incident arose, the State Department did not inform the Coast Guard of these general guidelines relating to defectors."

In defense of the State Department, however, "the Coast Guard did not notify in a timely fashion the State Department of subsequent developments."

To slice a lot of words away, we did not (again) know what we were doing.

There should have been no need at all for communications and channels and guidance with and from Washington when the Lithuanian jumper the Soviet ship. This country can have but one policy regarding refugees and defectors. There must never be any doubt about it again.

To insure that there isn't President Nixon has ordered that in the future asylum-seekers "be given every possible care and protection." They are not to be "arbitrarily or summarily" returned to foreign control before they can state their case and the United States can determine if they are eligible for asylum.

That won't help Simas Kudirka, unfortunately. He has no more future.

Married Sunday at St. Mary's Church

St. Mary's Church in Kingston was the setting for the wedding of Miss Patricia Anne Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Carney Sr. of 20 Becket Street, Kingston, and William John Potts Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Potts Sr. of Rancocas Avenue, Riverside, N.J., on Sunday, Dec. 6.

The Rev. Edward L. Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony. Theodore Riccobono, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white and red gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a traditional gown of Chantilly lace posed over bridal taffeta and fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The full tiered skirt swept back into a cathedral length train. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a petalled headpiece of lace and taffeta, edged with seed pearls. She carried a Colonial bouquet of bridal white carnations and red roses with white streamers.

Mrs. Marion Kidney of Rifton was matron of honor for her sister in a gown styled with an empire bodice of sand georgette and a floor length skirt of olive green velvet. The high necked bodice and long sleeves were edged with Florintine lace and she wore a stylized headpiece in matching color with a tulle flirtation veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and red roses with green streamers.

Deirdre Kidney, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. Attendants were Linda Gardner, cousin of the bride; Dolores DeGregoria; and Sharon Murphy, all of Kingston. Their gowns were styled identically to the honor attendant's except the flower girl's skirt was olive green and the attendants' skirts were ruby red velvet. Miss Kidney carried a miniature fireside basket of white pompons and miniature red roses. She wore a circlet of tiny silk flowers in her hair. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of pink pompons with red streamers.

Alan Conover of New Jersey was best man. Ushers were John Wellman of Uster Park; Walter Arell of Port Ewen; and Ted Kessler Sr. of New Jersey. Ted Kessler Jr. served as ringbearer.

A reception for 135 guests was held at Canri '400' Restaurant in Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to Mt. Tremblant, Canada and Vermont, the bride chose a white wool dress ensemble with a red corsage.

The bride attended Kingston Schools and is employed by Kingston Knitting Mills Outlet. Her husband, a graduate of Riverside High School and RCA Technical Institute, is attending Ulster County Community College, and is employed by IBM in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts Jr. will reside at Port Ewen.

Davis - Martin Wedding Told

MRS. FREDERICK P. MARTIN

The marriage of Miss Linda Sue Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Temple Davis of Raeford, N.C., and Frederick Peter Martin, stepson and son, respectively, of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Richard Adickes of North Lauderdale, Fla., took place Saturday, Nov. 28 at First Baptist Church, Raeford, N.C. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Erna Riemann Stahl of Kingston.

The Rev. Jack H. Mansfield officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were provided by Mrs. J. H. Austin, organist, and Charles Hottel, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white velvet in Victorian design. The high-waisted bodice was smocked and displayed an adornment of Soutache trim and seed pearls around the waistline. The high neckline was fashioned with a roll collar and the skirt was shirred at the waistline to give a flowing effect. A Medieval cap covered with velvet and trimmed with Soutache accents held her cathedral length silk illusion veil. She carried a bridal cascade of gladioli.

Mrs. Wendall Ronnie Branch, twin sister of the bride, of Raeford, N.C., was matron of honor in a formal gown of royal blue velvet, fashioned in Victorian design with sleeves trimmed in white fur. She wore a headpiece of matching velvet and white fur featuring a flirtation veil. She carried a nosegay of red and white roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jo Ann Davis, cousin of the bride, Dunn, N.C.; Miss Nancy Lipscomb of Raleigh, N.C.; Miss Gwen Anderson and Miss Sandy Hood of Raeford, N.C. Junior bridesmaids were the Misses Lee Ann and Carolyn Davis, nieces of the bride, of Danville, Va. They wore gowns of royal blue velvet with matching headpieces styled identically that of the honor attendant's and carried nosegays of red roses.

Miss Kimberly Quinn Hall, niece of the bride, Victoria, Va., was flower girl in a royal blue velvet gown with matching headpiece. She carried a basket of red and white roses and rose petals.

John Mower of West Hurley was best man. Ushers were David Grantham of Asheville, N.C.; Ronnie Branch of Raeford, N.C.; Frank Martin, brother of the bridegroom, North Lauderdale, Fla.; Wesley Thomas of Cary, N.C.; Roger Poplin and John Hine of Chapel Hill, N.C. Robert Adickes, step-brother of the bridegroom, of North Lauderdale, Fla., served as ringbearer.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the Church. After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will reside at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Jenkins-Gabrielli Nuptials Announced

The marriage of Jane Corwin Jenkins and Robert Martin Gabrielli took place November 28 at St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz. The Rev. Ivan Ferguson, a friend of the bridegroom, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Hickey of St. Joseph's and the Rev. Roy Hassel of New Paltz United Methodist Church.

A reception was held at the Old Fort on Huguenot Street in New Paltz.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn C. Jenkins of New Paltz and the late John J. Jenkins, a former professor of Education at Hofstra College and executive vice president of Audio-Visual Associates in Garden City.

Her husband is the son of Mrs. Ralph Gabrielli of New Paltz and the late Ralph Gabrielli, a former New York attorney and member of the Ulster County Bar Association.

The bride was escorted by her uncle, Dan Corwin, and attended by Patricia Rommer and her cousin, Carol Ann Corwin. Her twin daughters by a former marriage were flower girls.

Dr. Ralph Gabrielli, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mrs. Gabrielli attended Penn Hall for Girls in Chambersburg, Pa. and was graduated from UCCC. Her husband is a graduate of New Paltz High School and State University College at New Paltz. He is employed by Hudson River State Hospital as resource and reimbursement agent.

After a short wedding trip, they will live in New Paltz.

Cooperative Music Program

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic and the Associated Colleges of the Mid-Hudson Area have recently launched the first series of concerts of the Cooperative Music Program.

The program has been funded by the New York State Council on the Arts and it is designed to create an exchange between the Philharmonic and the ten colleges of the mid-Hudson area. The last concert will be held at Marist College in the Coffee House at the Campus Center at about 11 o'clock this evening.

This month, eight musicians from the Philharmonic have performed Stravinsky's "L'Histoire du Soldat" at four colleges in Dutchess, Orange and Ulster Counties. Miss Carolyn Clark, formerly on the faculty at New Paltz, narrated the text.

"L'Histoire du Soldat" is a work born of economic necessity. In 1918, Stravinsky and C. F. Ramuz, who wrote the libretto, conceived the work as a simple and inexpensive theatrical entertainment. The story is an old one with a universal theme: the soldier sells his violin to the devil in return for a miraculous book.

The music Stravinsky wrote for the ensemble is international in scope, containing such elements as a Bach-like chorale, a Spanish passo double and even hints of American ragtime.

Kenneth Fricker, bass player for the ensemble, said that "student reactions are excellent. We received a standing ovation at Mount Saint Mary. The general reaction seems to be that most colleges are looking for a musical experience other than straight rock concerts."

Card Party Tonight

Kingston Chapter No. 155, Order of Eastern Star, will sponsor a card party this evening at Masonic Temple, Albany Avenue, Kingston, at 8 o'clock.

Awards will be made and refreshments served.

INTERNATIONAL TEA and Annual Christmas Musical is scheduled at First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue, Kingston on Sunday at 4:30 p. m. Mrs. Nelson Barnett and Mrs. George Kennada (R) members of the tea committee, met recently at the home of Mrs. Arthur Pedersen Sr., organist and choir director of the church, to make final arrangements for the event. Other committee members include Mrs. Harold VanAllen, Council president; Mrs. Robert Marz and Mrs. Norman Biosat. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Traditional Christmas Tea And Musical Slated Sunday

The Cantata, "Night of Miracles," by John Peterson will be presented at the traditional Christmas Tea and Musical sponsored by the Women's Council of First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue, Kingston. The event is slated for Sunday at 4:30 p. m. at the Church.

Participating will be Don Boonhower, William Arnsman, Kevin Kirk, guest soloist, bass; Bud Decker, Edwin DeHoff, tenor; Dale Matson, Cindy Walker, Pam Horton, Narelle Biosat, alto; Mrs. Robert Acker, Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. James Veach, Mrs. Clifton Longendyke, Mrs. Clarence Huston, Mrs. Clarence Webster, Miss Marie Leahy, Mrs. Bruce Palen, guest soloist, soprano. Mrs. Arthur T. Pedersen Sr. is organist and choir director. The Youth Choir under the direction of Mrs. George Zickler will present a bell selection entitled "Noel, Noel, Bells Are Ringing." The public is invited.

WOMEN ARE ARMING FOR ACTION — Not content with wearing the pants in the family, some fashion fad followers on New York's chic set are now packing ammunition belts. A customer at a New York store tries on one of the belts which can be worn slung low on the hips or over the shoulder and across the chest. Bullets are optional. One department store employee, asked her reaction to the budding trend, commented: "I'm against guns and don't like it. What's next? Bows and arrows?" (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Ellenville Hospital Auxiliary Presents Hospital With $9500

Once again the Ellenville Community Hospital Auxiliary has broken its own record by presenting the hospital with a gift of $9500 at the annual Hospital dinner dance. The 1969 gift was $9000 and in 1968 the Auxiliary gift was $8500. The year's donation represents the earnings of 10 months as the gift was presented two months earlier than usual. Previously the presentation was made at the annual meeting of the Auxiliary in January. The money has been earned during 1970 in the Coffee Shop, Gift Cart, Gift Shop, annual luncheon, Tag Day, and other fund-raising activities of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Bernard Wenig, president of the Auxiliary, presented the check from the Auxiliary to Ben Lonstein, president of the Board of Directors of the Hospital. Mr. Koeford the administrator, will advise the Auxiliary of the new equipment which will be purchased with the gift as soon as it is determined. Mabel Chipp was elected president of the Auxiliary.

Serving with her will be Louise Verdino, first vice president; Evelyn Greenberg, second vice president; Irma Rice, treasurer; Connie Feldshuh, corresponding secretary; Phyllis Rubin, recording secretary. The next membership meeting and Holiday Tea is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 14 at 1 p. m.

Exotic Gifts for Gourmets Who Appreciate the Unusual

By SHIRLEY CHRISTIAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — My favorite gourmet cookware shop has issued a new catalogue filled with such exotic Christmas gift possibilities as bird's nest fryers and safety bagel holders.

Mother — who has cooked 35 years without owning a set of measuring cups — just wouldn't understand.

It offers, for example, "the only authentic implement for preparation of couscous," which is said to be "so popular in articulate dining circles recently."

In case you do not know how to make the North African dish, a recipe is included with the utensil.

The bird's nest fryer is really two wire baskets, one smaller than the other, to be used to deep fry a "nest" of such things as potato slices, bread or cake. They can be served filled with meat, vegetables or pudding.

There are these other appealing items to put under the tree:

—Apple and pear divider, which looks like a small spoke wheel and cuts the fruit into 14 equal slices.

—Tea bag and lemon slice squeezers, for the last drop.

—An egg piercer, a little round item that punches a hole to prevent boiling eggs from cracking.

—Cherry pitter, which looks somewhat like a nut and bolt.

—Several types of egg separators. One is a small bowl with a plastic device in the center that catches the yolk and lets the white flow through.

—Folding omelette pan, hinged at the middle to fold in half and said to make the perfect omelette.

Besides the usual collection of French fish poachers and butter chips, there is a ravioli pin, butter curler, tea infuser, double melon baller, egg cutter, bacon crisper, endless types of fruit peelers and corers and plain old-fashioned quart milk bottles at $3 each.

For corn lovers there are two gadgets. One, called a corn slitter and scraper, is indispensable. The other, a "kernel kutter," is round with handles on each side and is supposed to slide down an ear of corn.

There's also a bean stringer and slicer, for both string and sliced beans in one easy action.

And there's a pan drainer to do what other generations thought lids were for.

Finally, for stocking stuffers, the catalogue offers a strawberry huller — a small clamp-like thing which works very much as two fingers and has to be worked by two fingers.

It is said to ideal, too, for chicken feather pulling.

Percussion Effects From a Troubadour Of Popular Appeal

Male harpists are a rare breed in today's musical world. He began harp lessons with his mother's former teacher. In a musical technique is so short time, he became a student pronounced that, whenever he of Carlos Salgado, world renowned harpist.

Goodman has had a widely varied background, including acting, singing and instrumental playing. As a result, his programs are marked with a distinctive flair. Earl Wilson, syndicated columnist, has called him "the world's most versatile harpist."

Like musicians of old, he is a superlative troubadour-harpist; has complete command of the harp; uses it for percussion effects. Audiences everywhere have applauded his commanding technique, and area concertgoers are expected to follow suit when he performs tomorrow, Dec. 13 at 3:30 p. m. in Ascension Parish Hall, West Park.

A Fine Baritone
Known widely for his truly distinctive programs, Goodman's concerts not only display his brilliant technique as an instrumentalist, but also emphasize his ability as a vocalist as well, for his is a rich baritone voice. Born in Cleveland, Ohio, he began studying the piano at an early age; soon displayed an amazing technical and interpretative talent for the Sunday's concert at the Ascension Parish Hall will be the first in a series of Vocal Arts Concerts. The presentations are an outgrowth of the Vocal Arts Seminars held in recent weeks under the direction of singer-teacher Karen Ranung, who will appear in a portion of the Dec. 13 concert with Goodman.

Popular Selections
Acclaimed by both audiences and critics alike on concert tours throughout the U.S. and Canada, he has played consistently to capacity audiences. His programs are geared to appeal to all musical tastes, with selections including choices from the American musical theater, including such popular numbers as "Try to Remember," "They Call the Wind Maria," and "Camelot."

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
(© 1970, Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true that serviette rings are again "a la mode?" If it is correct to use the serviette rings at each meal, should not the serviette be replaced as soon as it is soiled? I heard someone say that she had used them at a luncheon for her friends. Could they be used when having friends for dinner? I said "no."

Where should the serviette be placed — in the center of the plate or on the side of the plate, and which side? — Marguerite

Dear Marguerite: It is true that serviette or napkin rings are coming back into style. This may be because people, who have never used their linen napkins because paper napkins are easier and so widely accepted, are tired to seeing the lovely linen ones rot away in a drawer.

Napkin rings should not be used at a luncheon or dinner party. They are used for members of the household, but a guest at a family meal may be given one, too. His napkin, of course, would never be used again as would those of the family.

Napkin rings are generally placed to the left of the place setting, although the wide, flat type may be placed in the center if you prefer.

The napkins should not be re-used after they are soiled.

15 Drug Charges Still Pending

KINGSTON. Eight charges against four defendants rounded up during the Oct. 29 narcotics raids by the Kingston Police Department are still pending Friday court, it was learned Friday through a check with official records.

Police made 15 arrests in the raids that extended to Saugerties and other communities outside the city.

The cases of seven subjects booked on a total of 15 charges are pending in court awaiting disposition, records show.

It was learned that one incident involved the arrest of five persons who were picked up in a car and charged with two counts each—criminal possession of dangerous drugs, and possessing implements adapted for use of narcotics.

Eight charges against four defendants rounded up during the Oct. 29 narcotics raids by the Kingston Police Department are still pending Friday court, it was learned Friday through a check with official records.

Public Hearing Slated Monday In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES. Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, Saugerties superintendent of schools issued a reminder today that the Board of Education will hold a public hearing on Monday, 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, Washington Avenue Extension, regarding a change in tax exemption for property owners over age 65.

Permissive legislation allows local boards to increase the present income limit from $3,000 to as high as $5,000 in granting tax exemptions of 50 per cent.

The hearing will help the Saugerties Board decide whether or not it should change the income limit. Citizens who wish to express their opinions will have an opportunity to be heard. It is expected that the board will take action at its regular meeting Monday, Dec. 21.

Man Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Pete Howard, 32, pleaded guilty Friday in Dutchess County Court to second degree manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Ethel Mayo, 49, of Poughkeepsie, on Aug. 22.

Mrs. Mayo was felled with a shotgun in a Poughkeepsie tavern.

Howard's address was given as 22 Delawfield St., Poughkeepsie, by the district attorney's office.

habilitation center, and the other two are expected to comply with promises to undergo similar treatment, it was said.

Four other narcotics and/or implement charges involving three persons were dismissed in City Court following suppression hearings.

According to official records, it was learned that a total of 12 of the 29 original charges have been dismissed. One defendant involved in the case previously pleaded guilty to two counts.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the Central School District Number One, of the Town of Saugerties, Woodstock and Ulster Counties, New York, will hold a public hearing on Monday, December 14, 1970, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Auditorium, Washington Avenue Extension, for the purpose of discussing the increasing aged income exemption above the $3,000 for the 50% reduction in assessed valuation for school tax purposes.

NORMA J. NELSON, District Clerk

The Laws and Rules and Finance Ways and Means Committees of the Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York, will hold a Public Hearing on Thursday, December 17, 1970 at 7:00 P.M. in the City Court Room, City Hall, Kingston, N.Y. to consider the following proposed amendment: To amend Local Law No. 4 of 1970, by adding thereto a new Section 1, to read as follows:

EDWARD NORTON, Chairman Finance Ways and Means Committee

LOCAL LAW NO. 4 OF 1970 (KNOWN AS LOCAL LAW 113 OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON)

A LOCAL LAW TO FURTHER AMEND TITLE IV OF THE CHARTER OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, RELATING TO THE POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE ASSESSOR.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York, as follows:

Section 1. Local Law No. 13 of 1966 (Known as Local Law No. 113 of the City of Kingston) be and is hereby amended to read as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. That Title IV of the Charter of the City of Kingston, New York, by Chapter 147 of the Laws of 1966, is hereby amended by adding thereto a new Section to be known as Section 32-b.

Section 32-b. The purpose of this Local Law is to grant a further partial exemption from taxation to the extent of fifty (50%) per centum of the assessed valuation of real property which is owned by certain persons with limited income who are sixty-five (65) years of age or over, or in the case of a married couple, together, one of whom is over the age of sixty-five (65) years and who meet the requirements set forth in Section 467 of the Real Property Tax Law, as amended by the Laws of 1970, Chapter 291.

Section 3. Real property owned by one or more persons, each of whom is sixty-five years of age or over, or real property owned by husband and wife, one of whom is sixty-five (65) years of age or over, shall be exempt from municipal real property taxation, where located in this City, to the extent of fifty (50%) per cent of the assessed valuation thereof, commencing with the calendar year 1971, upon the following terms and conditions.

The owner or all of the owners of such real property must file an application annually in the office of the Assessor of the City of Kingston at least ninety (90) days before the taxable status date, within such other time as may hereafter be fixed by law.

The income of the owner or the combined income of the owners must not exceed $4,000.00 for the twelve (12) month period for which the owner or owners filed a Federal Personal Income Tax Return, or if no such return was filed the calendar year in which the property is vested in either the husband or wife, the combined income of both may not exceed such sum. Such income shall include social security, retirement benefits, interest, dividend, net rental income, salary or earnings, and net income from self-employment, but shall not include gifts or inheritances.

Title to the property must be vested in the owner or by descent from one, in all of the owners of said property for at least sixty (60) consecutive months prior to the date that the application is filed. However, in the event of the death of either a husband or wife in whose name the title to the property shall have been vested at the time of death and then becomes vested solely in the survivor by virtue of devise or by descent from the deceased husband or wife, the time of ownership of the said property by the deceased husband or wife shall be deemed also a time of ownership by the survivor and such ownership shall be deemed continuous for the purpose of computing such period of sixty (60) consecutive months. Additionally, where property of the owner or owners has been acquired to replace property formerly owned by such owner or owners and taken by eminent domain, or other involuntary proceeding, except a tax sale, the period of ownership of the former property shall be combined with the period of ownership of the property for which application is made for exemption and such periods of ownership shall be deemed to be consecutive for purposes of this Local Law.

This special partial exemption is only applicable to real property used exclusively for residential purposes and is occupied in whole or in part by the owner or by all of the owners of the property.

Failure to make application for such partial exemption in due time or to complete an application therefor on forms prescribed by the Assessor of the City of Kingston shall constitute a full and complete waiver of the right to claim such special partial exemption and the said real property shall be subject to full levy, collection and enforcement of the payment of the full taxes for which the said property shall have been assessed.

Section 3. Any willful, false statement in the application for such exemption, shall make the person or persons making such willful, false statement liable to a fine of not more than one hundred ($100.00) Dollars and shall disqualify the applicant and his heirs and assigns from further exemption for a period of five (5) years.

Section 4. This Law shall take effect January 1, 1971. Until the effective date of this Local Law, Local Law No. 13, 1966 (known as Local Law 113 of the City of Kingston) amended hereby shall remain in full force and effect in its original form.

Dear Abby

Dad Image Shattered

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

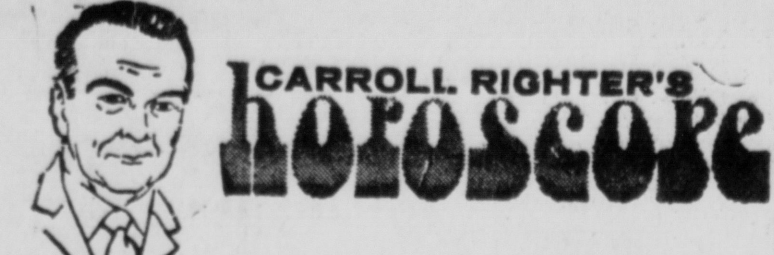

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 years old, and enrolled in a creative writing course at school. My main purpose in taking this course was to get courage to express my feelings. I have been writing all my life, but have never shown anyone my work. Well, I loved this course as well as the teacher. He was one of the nicest men I have ever known. One day I expressed my feelings in the form of a poem and gave it to him. It went like this: "I dreamed you were my father. This dream did make me weep."

I dreamed you were my father. My love for you runs deep. I dreamed you held me in your arms. And told me I was good. I dreamed that you would punish me. Each time you thought you should. I dreamed you were my father. This dream did make me weep. I dreamed you were my father. Tho I was not asleep. Abby, I never had a father, and in this poem I was trying to tell my teacher how much he meant to me. Well, after he read it, he never even looked at me again. He won't call me in class, and he turns his head when he sees me in the hall. I feel so embarrassed and ashamed. I don't want to go to his class any more, and I don't think I will ever show my work to anyone again. Was it corny of me to have expressed my feelings in poetry? I hate being rejected, and believe me, I've been rejected a lot. HURT: I think your poem was good, and I urge you not to let this unfortunate experience discourage you from writing and sharing your work with others. Your teacher appears to be strangely insensitive for one who teaches creative writing. He cannot be expected to know the battles you are fighting in your personal life. (And you know nothing of the battles he could be fighting in his.) The feelings you expressed obviously turned him off. But I think he was more frightened than displeased.

right and what is morally wrong these days. What used to be considered wrong 25 years ago is suddenly "right." How is a person supposed to know how to behave? BIG DILEMMA: DEAR BIG: Let your conscience be your guide. For some strange reason, we now have about 20 million laws trying to enforce the Ten Commandments. What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

DEAR ABBY: It is so difficult to know what is morally

SATURDAY, DEC. 12, 1970
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon brings considerable activity to most everyone. You would be wise to make use of the energy released to contact people with whom you should have discussions and conferences. Let them know just what you have in mind and listen to what they have to suggest in joint ventures.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Excellent day to shop and make important appointments for whatever is uppermost in your mind. Then get together with congenial friends for relaxation and fun. Correspond. Take care of travel affairs, also.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Stop wasting time and improve everything around you by cleaning and reorganizing possessions. Do whatever you have planned for some time. Study your financial situation and know just where you can spend and where you cannot.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to handle those affairs that will bring more accord with persons who are important in your life. Plan to get that shopping done without delay, also. Schedule your activities early and all is fine.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get your activities well organized so that they produce much better results. You are able to get that information you need confidentially so that you can better carry through with some project you have. Show gratitude.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contacting good friends early gives you an opportunity to be very social today and to show your fondness for them. You are able to go after some important wish early and get it. Organize financial affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle those civic affairs well and do whatever stamps you as an A-1 citizen. Make sure you do nothing to jeopardize your reputation. Do something about credit matters before the holidays.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Contact individuals you want to be more a part of your life in the future and talk over whatever plans you have with them. Some important trip should be planned now. This will bring on the kind of expansion that you want.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 1) You have a fine hunch about to take care of that financial situation very wisely. You have plenty of time for it on this day free from other work. Take that jaunt with loved one that you have in mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The Full Moon has others in a confiding mood, so be sure to contact them and get information you want. Do most of the listening and all in fine. Then you know what they have in mind and can carry on intelligently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have duties to perform in the outside world, so get out early and handle them well. Fellow workers will help you to be more efficient. Give them an opportunity to do so without losing your temper.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan as much time as you can to be with loved one and friends for the amusements you want. Good day to do Christmas shopping. Show all you contact how devoted you are.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Let your home be the center of your activities now and if you handle whatever comes up in an objective fashion, all is fine. Try not to be so hypersensitive. Strive for greater harmony with everyone.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is full of charm and vitality and who will be wise enough to put first things first, whether at home, in business or in social life, so try to provide early the kind of home background that is a secure and sensible model. The fields of banking and marketing are particularly favored. Give the most suitable kind of education and early religious training. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for January is now ready. SUNDAY, DEC. 13, 1970
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a good deal of energy and are interested in getting your life on a more secure structure for both emotional and spiritual satisfaction. Think of ways you can please members of your own family so they will be closer to you and happier with you.

ARIES (Mar. to Apr. 19) This is a good day to iron out problems at home. Show more affection for kin and do whatever pleases them the most. Try not to be extravagant in any way.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Think along lofty lines and you can reach greater heights. Talk the future over with associates. You can easily contact those who mean a very great deal to you now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan money and job activities wisely and you will get more respect from loved ones. It is wise to do a favor for one who has helped you in the past. Show that you are a person of character.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can reach personal aims quite easily if you really go after them now. Stop procrastinating. Those at home are in a cheerful mood and will be very affectionate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk over your best ideas quietly with kin and try to gain their support for them. Make those preparations that are vital to long-term security. Travel with people you really like.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact good pals and tell them what your highest aims are so they can give you a boost in the right places with others. Enjoying hobbies you mutually enjoy is good, also. Have a more optimistic attitude.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) This is a good day to discuss in a leisurely manner your ambitions with a bigwig who can aid you in achieving them. You have an opportunity to attend some civic affair that stamps you as an A-1 citizen. Do it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day to be with persons of fine philosophical, understanding who will elevate your consciousness. Be more broadminded and you will get along much better. Avoid arguments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have excellent vision now and can be with persons of like mind with whom you can plan for the future. An attachment is feeling depressed. Do whatever you can to cheer up this person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Close ties and friends will listen to your ideas now and support you in them. Form an alliance with one who is dependable. This can lead to much happiness and profit in the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do something important that will make an excellent impression on a bigwig and this will lead to early advancement. Make your appearance as attractive and impressive as possible. P.M. is good for enjoying social activities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) New channels for realizing aspirations are open to you. Get busy at writing or similar pursuits. Go out for new social life with a charming person and you will have a delightful time. Use your own irresistible charm.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is full of charm and vitality and who will be wise enough to put first things first, whether at home, in business or in social life, so try to provide early the kind of home background that is a secure and sensible model. Bridge

Jacoby Modern Back in 1936?

By Oswald & James Jacoby
George Raape has won about every trophy there is, including the President's Cup for non-masters, which he won with Curt Jacobson back in 1936. Here is a hand played by George in that event.

The bidding is JACOBY MODERN because we aren't sure just how George and Curt worked their way up to the heart slam. Remember that, in JACOBY MODERN, the two spade response is artificial in any way.

Q — How will the new "Monday Holiday" law effect Veterans Day?

A — Veterans Day in 1971 will fall on Oct. 25; the fourth Monday in October, instead of the traditional Nov. 11.

Q — What celestial body was observed to split in two in 1846 and vanished completely in 1965?

A — Biela's comet.

Q — Who is the patroness for the prevention of fires?

A — St. Catherine of Siena. Her feast day is April 30.

Q — What is the remotest heavenly body visible to the naked eye?

A — The great galaxy in Andromeda. It is 2.2 million light-years away.

Q — Which of Charles Dickens' novels was never completed?

A — "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." Nobody knows how Dickens intended the mystery to end and the problem still intrigues readers.

Q — Which U.S. state capital installed the first parking meters in the nation?

A — Oklahoma City, Okla., in 1935. A nickel-in-the-slot parking meter was installed at each 20-foot space.

shows from 7-9 high-card points. If you look at the North South cards, it would appear that eventually George would have to guess whether or not to rise with the king of clubs after leading a club from his hand.

Young George found a way to get West to rise with the ace of clubs when the club was finally led.

He started playing out three trumps after winning the first trick with dummy's ace of spades. Curt asked, "Don't you know trumps are out?" George replied, "No harm being sure."

Then he cashed diamonds and discarded dummy's eight of spades. West had what he thought was a complete count of George's hand. He knew about six hearts and four diamonds and the spade played at trick one. Obviously, George's other two cards were a club and another spade. Hence when George led the 10 of clubs, West went right up with his ace.

Playing in a major championship today we doubt if George's play would work. The expert sitting West might wonder why George played that extra round of trumps and figure out a low-club play would be in order.

Webs Not Checking Young

HOLLYWOOD (UPD)—I went down to my friendly neighborhood TV shop on Tuesday for my weekly visit and checkup on what is being sidestepped, on commercial television.

The networks, as you may have heard, say they are after the young audience. But you begin to think that maybe no one is. Here are Joe Cocker and Richie Havens and Judy Collins and James Taylor and The Grateful Dead?

Look, Dean Martin is a gas. But where are Steve Sills and Tom Lehrer and Led Zeppelin and Paul Kantner and Jefferson Airplane and Cream and Elton John and Skz?

It is difficult to do this—to fit such a show into a network schedule admittedly made up primarily for the middle-aged-to-older audience, which video has locked up. But it would be a pity if the networks just give up on trying to find the right format and approach for the influential music of today.

Johnny Cash is part of the war there with his series. Whoever goes the rest of the way, with genuineness and know how, will not only strike a bonanza, but will score a major breakthrough.

WHY WE SAY

THINK: Originally "thank you" was to think. The meaning is that we will be thinking of you with gratitude.

Lenefsky and the Party: A Time for Self-Appraisal

It's gratifying to find someone who agrees with us that the Democrats in Ulster County can get people elected if they first get people organized.

That someone, in this case, is David Lenefsky, the Democratic candidate for state senator against Jay P. Rolison this last time out. Lenefsky, as we all know, suffered the same fate as his running mates this year, although to a lesser degree.

The average loss of county Democrats against their Republican opponents in Ulster County was about 18,000. John Greaney, the candidate for Congressman against Ham Fish, inflated that average by losing by 25,000 votes. Lenefsky kept it down by losing by about 6,000.

Lenefsky, after a reasonable period of time to gather his thoughts and his statistics about him, has come out with a private letter to some 80 to 90 Democrats assessing his campaign in relation to the "Rockefeller-Buckley phenomenon" and the future of the party in Ulster County.

HE CONCLUDES THUSLY: "I have no doubt whatsoever that Ulster County can be Democratic—but only if good candidates are supported by equally good county and local Democratic organizations.

"I have heard some Democrats give every ridiculous excuse for Ulster being Republican — including Republican patronage, people voting the way their ancestors did and Republican money. Nonsense. Money is a cheap substitute for lack of a good candidate and supportive Democratic organizations.

"Democrats lose Ulster County for one, and only one, reason: We have no worthwhile county organization, or local ones in the majority of towns. The sooner we accept this reality, the quicker we shall become winners. And of course, the more we delude ourselves about the reasons we lose, the longer we shall stay losers—with the major consequence that the people of Ulster will be the real victims."

EARLIER IN THE LETTER, Lenefsky makes this point: "The major political lesson I take away from the campaign is that a good candidate is no more than 50 per cent of what is needed to win. The other half is organization. I went into this campaign foolish enough to believe that a good candidate was enough to win."

We differ with Lenefsky on one minor point... his percentages. He indicates a 50-50 balance between the candidate and his organization. We think it's at least 75-25: organization over the candidate.

We've seen about 20 different aldermen since we've been covering city hall. Some were excellent. Most were just average guys trying to do a job. Some were terrible. We often wondered about that latter few. How could anyone ever vote for them? The answer, of course, was organization. A good organization can elect anyone, anytime, just as long as they keep the clod away from the people.

Lenefsky, of course is not recommending the creation of a horde of hacks to beat the drums for a brace of stumblebums. What he's saying is that the Democratic Party has good candidates who have campaigned hard but never really had a chance because of the lack of organization.

WHAT HE'S SAYING, simply is this: "We can win if we get help." Just like the Republicans in the county.

Some Democrats will reject the Lenefsky letter out of hand. They've heard it all before, perhaps not as eloquently, but they've heard it.

Others will reject its author out of hand. "He's only lived here for about four years. Who ever heard of him

THE SNOW JINX—Republicans are currently wracking their brains trying to figure a way to best Frank Koenig in 1971. The consensus seems to be that the mayor is virtually automatic for reelection next time around. True, he probably won't win by the 3,900 plurality that he rang up against Jim Tyrrell in '69 but, then again, the Republicans probably won't be running Tyrrell in '71.

But there is hope, however slim. It appears that the mayor has this thing with snow.

According to our usually reliable sources, Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, after craning his neck heavenward last Saturday afternoon, felt that a snow storm was on the way. Gallo has been a city official for seven years. After seven years in office any city official can smell snow coming. No doubt from all the snow jobs that city officials hand out while in office.

Gallo quickly gets on the phone to the mayor and warns (we are told) "Don't leave town tonight. If you leave town, it's gonna snow."

Koenig, with a rare Saturday night off, ignores Gallo's warning, and heads for Skypot with his wife. Just as the mayor is preparing to sink his chops into a succulent steak, he spots something falling outside.

Guru Gallo was right again. He may wind up with Tex Antoine.

Koenig with any kind of luck, will get to take his wife out to dinner this winter... within the city limits.

before last March?"

No one we talk to can remember when the Republicans were weak and divided. But somewhere in the ancient past a Republican must have said to his fellow party members, "Let's cut out this petty bickering. Let's get together. Let's get some good candidates and let's work to get them elected."

Lenefsky asks nothing less of his party.

Ban on U.S. Troops in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — After delays spanning several months, House conferees were expected to agree today to a Senate measure banning use of U.S. combat troops and advisers in Cambodia.

That development, in turn, was likely to enhance chances for swift action on the Nixon administration's request for $255 million in military aid to the war-torn nation.

Ranking members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee indicated after a heated session Friday with Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird that they would not clear the Cambodian money without guarantees such as those in last summer's Cooper-Church amendment.

The way apparently was cleared for House adoption of an amendment prohibiting American ground forces from re-entering Cambodia, when Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Thursday he had no objection to it.

The amendment is contained in a defense appropriation bill for which a formal compromise is being drawn by a conference committee. The Senate approved the amendment which the House rejected.

A separate measure containing $1.035 billion in supplemental foreign aid funds, including the $255 million for Cambodia, was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee Friday.

But the panel made the appropriation other than $500 million for military credit sales to Israel, contingent upon passage of an authorization bill held by the Foreign Relations Committee.

The Israeli arms aid already has been authorized.

Some members of the Foreign Relations Committee indicated they would want the authorization to contain its own rider preventing American personnel from ground action in Cambodia, even though it might duplicate the Cooper-Church amendment.

Even with such guarantees Democratic members, particularly Chairman J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, declared they have serious doubts over the wisdom of opening a major flow of U.S. dollars to Cambodia. Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., asked Laird: "Isn't Cambodia the home of the white elephant?"

Laird insisted, however, that Cambodia's ability to defend itself is a vital element in the continued success of Vietnamization.

Laird on Pullout: No Go Without POWs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says he wants the United States to stay in Vietnam until U.S. prisoners of war are out. "Vietnamization cannot be completed as far as I'm concerned until these prisoners are freed," Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday. He did not amplify the statement.

Committee members said the statement confirmed one of their greatest concerns about Vietnamization. Turning the war over to the South Vietnamese to fight in lieu of a negotiated settlement makes no provision for freeing prisoners, they said.

"If Vietnamization is successful, the POWs will be left there," Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., told Laird, contending that the only means of freeing them was through a negotiated settlement of the war.

The White House repeated its position that "we have a deep concern for prisoners of war and the condition under which they are being detained." It said it has made various proposals for an exchange of prisoners with North Vietnam and the problem would be pursued vigorously.

Laird vowed he will authorize additional rescue attempts, like the unsuccessful Nov. 21 mission into a suspected camp 23 miles west of Hanoi, if the opportunities present themselves.

The committee called another meeting for Monday but there was no indication it would act despite the administration's contention the aid outlay was an urgently needed cornerstone of the Nixon doctrine and that its defeat would slow withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

Reds Rack Cambodians In Hand to Hand Battle

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian forces were locked in hand-to-hand combat with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops today after a heavy enemy assault 38 miles north of Phnom Penh.

There were no reports on the number of casualties in the seven-hour battle at Prey Totung, one of the last major strong points on the Cambodian government's northern front. But reports reaching Phnom Penh said the Cambodians had lost well over 1,000 men killed or wounded during the Communist command's current five-week-old northern offensive.

If Prey Totung falls, it would leave the government's northern front guarded only by positions at Kompong Cham, 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and Skoun, about the same distance north of the capital. The government has no significant positions in between.

Bombers assaulted the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong force through the night and after dawn but apparently were not enough to break the heavy attack.

Cambodian artillery support is virtually non-existent because of a shortage of shells.

A spokesman said Cambodian paratroopers and Cambodians recruited and trained in South Vietnam by U.S. Special Forces were defending Prey Totung, a district town midway between Skoun and Kompong Cham.

As many as seven North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regiments are in the northern battle sector, having moved westward from South Vietnam, were they passing battled American and South Vietnamese forces before the Cambodian war broke out last March.

With the northern front in a shambles, two Cambodian columns pushing from opposite directions moved to within 12 miles of a linkup on Route 4 southwest of Phnom Penh, the capital's highway to the sea.

Civilians at My Lai: Witness Recalls Orders

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — The company in which Lt. William L. Calley Jr. commanded a platoon had orders not to let any civilians get behind them in the sweep through My Lai but the orders did not say to kill civilians, a witness told the Calley murder court-martial Friday.

The witness, Capt. George C. White, 22, of Ft. Rucker, Ala., was called by the defense and made the statement about the lack of killing orders on cross-examination by the chief prosecutor, Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III.

White, who painted a grim picture of heavy fire received in the area of My Lai in American infantry sorties prior to March 16, 1968, said that date was scheduled to be "the big operation." Calley is accused of murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians in that action.

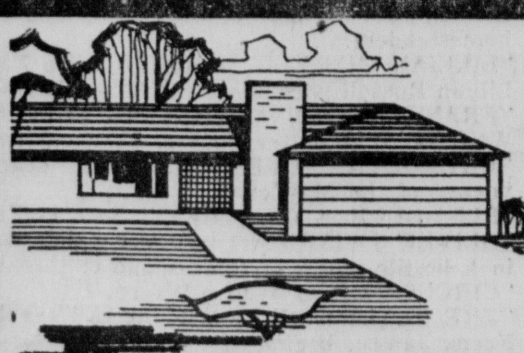

Calley commanded a platoon in Company C, whose mission was to search and destroy the villages of My Lai 4, 5 and 6 and ultimately take My Lai 1, the largest village in the cluster and long a Communist military lair.

White commanded a platoon in Company A, which took up a blocking position to the north of the action. Company B of the task force was the blocking element on the south.

Daniel asked him: "In the briefing, was it said what method was to be used to keep the civilians from passing through?" White said it was not.

"It was not mentioned that they were to kill them, was it?"

"No, it was not," Daniel asked: "There was no order to kill large groups of civilians in lieu of evacuation, was there?" "No," replied White.

December Settles In Along Rondout Creek With A Quiet Greyness

Full Week's TV Listing From Dec. 13 Thru Dec. 19

A CHURCH, PALACE AND CARNIVAL are focal points of the miniature Dutch City of Madurodam, now on display in New York City during the Christmas season as the traditional holiday treat for children, courtesy of KLM Royal Dutch Airlines.

Going to New York during the holidays? Taking the kiddies?

Right on Fifth Avenue you can peer over the spires of a 15th Century Amsterdam Church, count the roof tiles of a 7-foot-high Royal Palace, witness a coronation procession and see the bustle of a real Dutch carnival.

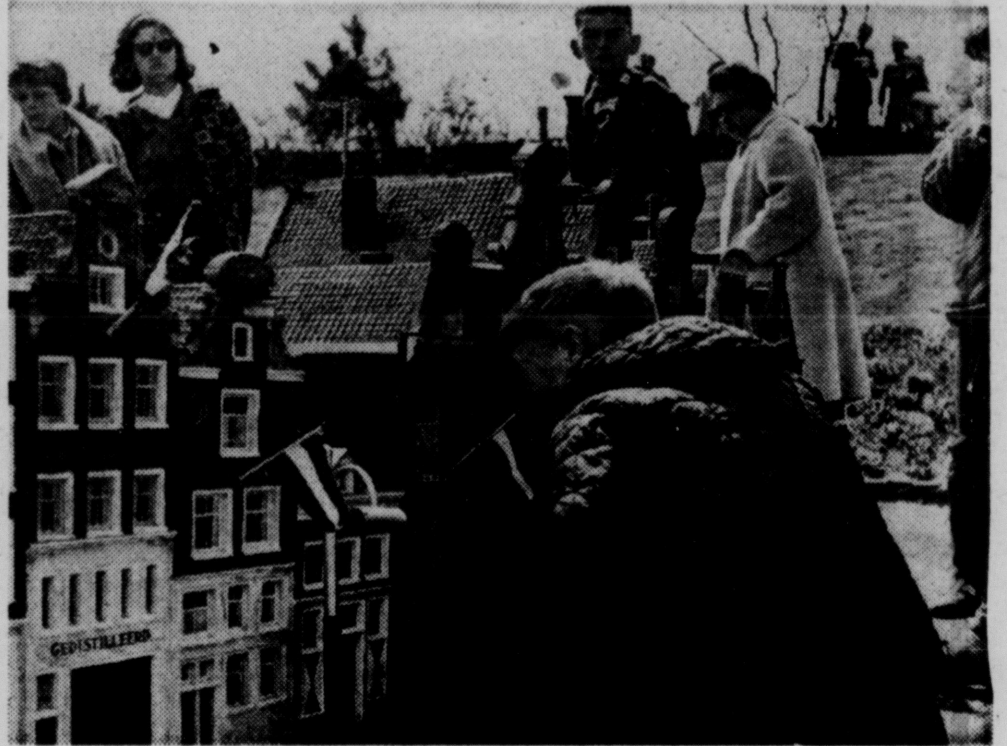

There's more too. It's all on Fifth Avenue at the corner of 49th Street where the miniature Dutch city of Madurodam has taken its place as the traditional holiday treat for children provided by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines.

1,000 Tiny Figures

The church, palace and carnival are the focal points of the display which covers a 40 by 15 foot area in the corner ticket office. More than 1,000 tiny figures populate this bit of Holland in microcosm in which canal boats cruise over real water and an Amsterdam tram glides through 17th century streets past an open-air cheese market, a working windmill, ferris wheel, merry-go-round, castle and moat, and a bicycle race in which the cyclists move around an outdoor track.

Miniature Madurodam — A Holiday Treat

EACH CHRISTMAS SEASON, many of the Madurodam buildings (such as that being examined by this youngster) are taken from their permanent home in a Holland park and flown to New York where they are set up to show Holland in microcosm.

In Holland, Maduro dam fills a park area near The Hague. It has been visited by more than 15 million people who tower above the tiny buildings as they walk along the two-mile-path which winds through the miniature city.

Each Christmas season many of the actual buildings are taken from the park and flown to New York where they are set up to show Holland in microcosm.

The New Models

This year two brand-new models, the Royal Palace (with 1,400 windows) and the New Church of Amsterdam are being shown. They will be added to the park back in Holland next summer.

The display, which also features a teeming street market scene, is now open to the public daily from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Groups are welcome but are asked to call in advance to advise their arrival time. The exhibit will be on view through Jan. 5.

Be sure to see it if you're in the city over the holidays. As the smallest town in the world, it's an unfailing attraction for young and old; puts at your feet a marvelous replica of a typical Dutch town with all its charm and bustle.

Cliffside Sculpture Is Being Dedicated In Memory of King

ARTIST MANUEL BROMBERG

It has been and will continue to be a weekend of interesting events on the State University College at New Paltz campus. More than a dozen activities there, beginning yesterday and continuing through tomorrow, are tied in with the United Nations' observance of Human Rights Week.

Paltz is calling its series of events a Convocation of Human Rights, and activities up to today have run the gamut from lectures and seminars to folksinging.

Late this afternoon, one of the highlights of the weekend is scheduled. The much publicized Cliffside Sculpture by artist Manuel Bromberg, of the college Art Department, will be permanently lighted and dedicated to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the assassinated leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

New Home on Mall

The cliff, recreated by Bromberg from its natural counterpart in the Catskills, is an unusual and intriguing sculpture which will be dedicated in honor of the late civil rights leader at its new home on the Mall on campus.

The memorial celebration is slated for 5 p.m. today, with Dr. Wyatt Tee Walker, a long-time associate of King, giving the major address. Walker is the minister of Canaan Baptist Church of Christ, Harlem; was formerly chief of staff to King in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Other events slated to close the three-day convocation include several cultural offerings. Tonight at 8:30 in the College Union Lounge, Theodore Weiss will offer a poetry reading. Weiss is Professor of the Creative Arts and Senior Fellow of the Council of the Humanities, Princeton University. He is also the author of "The World Before Us," and has translated several contemporary Russian poets.

College Union Lounge will be the scene of a dramatic reading of "The Voice of the Ghetto," by author-actor Rodney Douglas. Douglas, who wrote and directed the reading, is a member of the New Paltz College student personnel staff. Students at the college will offer the reading.

International Buffet

An international buffet will be served Sunday at 6 p.m. in Parker Dining Hall. Prepared by members of the International Students Association, it will offer foods of Ethiopia, India, Indonesia, Japan, Sierra Leone, and other countries.

An added attraction on campus, through Dec. 19, is a Human Rights Exhibits in the Sojourner Truth Library, featuring a collection of books, documents and visual materials on problems and achievements in human rights as applied to blacks, the American Indian, and minorities.

The public is invited to join in any or all of these events.

Sunday afternoon, at 4:30, the

Rock at New Paltz — Bigger Than Football

BRIAN KEENAN of the Chambers Brothers received a standing ovation from the student audience at weekend concert in New Paltz, following an inspired ten minute drum solo. The Chambers Brothers appeared with Great Jones and E Pluribus Unum on the Saturday segment of the weekend entertainment.

On many college and university campuses around the nation rock concerts are replacing football and other sports, including demonstrations, as the primary medium for mass student gatherings.

And while competitive sports have never really established a foothold at Mid-Hudson Valley colleges, many schools in the area have started producing rock concerts. The State University College at New Paltz, in particular, has emerged, with a series of excellently produced and well-attended rock, folk, and blues shows, as one of the finest concert scenes in the Northeast.

Indeed the concert scene at New Paltz has become so widely recognized that last Spring when the Jefferson Airplane and Joe Cocker performed at the college, student producers announced to New York disc jockeys that the concerts were cancelled in order to prevent a Woodstock-type invasion.

Although there is no UPI poll to confirm it, I would venture to say that New Paltz is to rock concerts what the University of Texas is to football.

A Late Start

Hampered by newly established restrictions on student spending and the loss of some talented production personnel, the concert scene at New Paltz got off to a late shaky start this year.

However, if the two shows produced last Saturday and Sunday night in the college gymnasium are an indication of things to come, it looks like another successful year for New Paltz rock. The weekend's concerts featured the Chambers Brothers as headliners on Saturday night, and the Byrds on Sunday.

The Chambers Brothers' performance was electrifying. One of the most versatile groups on the rock scene, Lester, Joseph, George and Willie Chambers, along with Brian Keenan on drums, put on a show that moved from mellow harmonizing to some of the most powerful, foot stomping, get up and dance, hard rock ever heard. There was no need for a standing ovation when the second show ended at 5 a.m.; everybody was already up.

Appearing with the Chambers Brothers were Great Jones and E Pluribus Unum, who also performed on Sunday. I didn't catch the former and the latter didn't catch me.

California Days

I remember the Byrds from my college days in California circa 1965 or so. That's when "McGuinn and Maguire were still getting higher in L.A.—you know where that's at," and David Crosby—who has since come down to earth and sailed away in the "Wooden Ships"—was still flying "Eight Miles High."

The only original Byrd at the

THE BYRDS highlighted the Sunday segment of two nights of rock music entertainment at State University at New Paltz with Roger McGuinn, guitar player and lead singer doing some excellent interpretations of Bob Dylan's music. McGuinn is the only member of the original Byrds still playing with the group.

Sunday night concert was Roger McGuinn, who after struggling to re-organize the group for the past three years, has finally come up with an ensemble that can work comfortably within the Byrds' trade-marked folk-rock style and at the same time, project an image of its own.

I was particularly impressed with the newest member of the group, Skip Battin, who harmonized beautifully with Dylanesque McGuinn and who was featured on a bass solo which prompted a standing ovation.

The Byrds highlighted the show Sunday night, but Sonny Terry and Brownie McGhee preceding them on the bill, stole it.

Terry and McGhee have been singing and playing the blues on the college scene since the folk revival in the 50's, and the response to their performance at New Paltz is a testimony to the genuine talent of these two fine musicians (By Bruce Kaufman).

UCCC Winter Concert Highlights Carols, Basie Arrangements

Ulster County Community College Music Department will present its eighth annual Winter Concert this Sunday, Dec. 13, at 3:30 p.m. at Clifford M. Miller School Auditorium in Kingston.

Appearing in the concert will be the College Chorus, College Stage Band, Baroque Vocal Ensemble, and the Baroque Instrumental Ensemble.

The College Chorus will perform a wide variety of Christmas selections, including excerpts from Handel's "Messiah," the "Shepherds' Chorus" from Menotti's Opera, "A Mahl and the Night Carol."

From the Big Bands

The College Stage Band will perform a group of Count Basie arrangements, including "Jumpin' At the Woodside" and "Hay Burner." The Glenn Miller Arrangement of "A string of Pearls," and several other selections. The Baroque Vocal Ensemble will sing traditional Christmas carols, including "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen" and "Deck the Halls." The Baroque Instrumental Ensemble will perform with the "Messiah" selections, and this group will play a Baroque selection.

Richard Olsen, Associate Professor of Music, directs the College Chorus and the Baroque Vocal Ensemble, while Robert Stein, Instructor of Music, directs the College Stage Band and the Baroque Instrumental Ensemble.

Spectacular Holiday Fun — Don't Miss It!

Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker living room, with brocaded Ballet will be performed four period costumes, and a times this season by the "Victorian Valentine card" set of the Palace of the Sweets, under the direction of Tom Adair, and with the accompaniment of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. The first performances will take place at Wappingers Falls Junior High School tonight, Saturday, Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. and tomorrow, Sunday, Dec. 13 at 2:30 p.m. The following week-end performances will be at Poughkeepsie High School on Saturday, Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 20 at 2:30 p.m.

The Ballet Theater was recently formed by Tom Adair "to promote good dancing in the Hudson Valley." He chose the Nutcracker, "because it's a magnificent ballet and seems to be the one which attracts people: the word Nutcracker is like magic."

The first production will have especially spectacular sets, including a red velvet Victorian

It's Another First
The Hudson Valley Philharmonic, now in its twelfth season, needs no introduction to area audiences. This performance will, however, be another first for the busy orchestra. Before this Christmas classic, they have accompanied a regional ballet company.

Mack Coming Back

Ted Mack wants it known that his "Amateur Hour" program, on video since 1955, is not through simply because it has bowed out of its CBS spot, due partly to the fact that Sunday football games blot it out during the fall. Mack says that its long-time sponsor expects to get it back on some network in the near future.

Barber and Beautician to the Canine Set

A boy and his dog, man's best friend, Lassie—all part of our American heritage. But of late, a vocal minority has begun to attack our four-legged friends.

In New York, environmental officials and newspaper columnists alike have been blaming dogs for at least some of the city's problems. They point out that Manhattan is a borough of three million people and almost as many dogs, that there are no back yards there, and that those New Yorkers who walk around looking at the sidewalk really HAVE to watch their step.

Even so, dogs are an American institution—in spite of the fact that Ring Lardner once observed that, canines, like oysters, are better in some climates than others. And certainly there are persons in this country who think dogs are more or less human. If there is a vocal minority attacking dogs, there is also a silent majority of dog lovers.

New on the Scene

One would have to include in those ranks a sandy-haired, freckle-faced gentleman named Edwin Craig. As the owner of the just-opened "Mr. C's Dog Grooming" establishment out at 549 Albany Avenue here, he is a staunch defender of poodles and collies alike.

Armed with a diploma from the New York School of Dog Grooming (he spent 100 hours learning to clip, bath and groom dogs), he has no grievances against his long-haired customers. The shop, open for business for only three weeks, has been an instant success. Dog owners by the dozens are bringing in their pets; pondering which type of clip to order for Fritz or Toni or Mike.

They get help on that problem as soon as they enter Mr. C's. Framed drawings on the walls describe types of clips available, including Puppy, Town and Country, Kennel, Lamb, Summer, Royal Dutch or just plain Dutch. Prices range from $8 for a toy poodle to $10 for a miniature poodle to $15 for standard breeds.

Schnauzers and terriers get the dog beautiful treatment for $8, and a rub-a-dub-dub encounter with flea shampoo is priced at $1.50.

There's a Resemblance

The back room at Mr. C's resembles a workaday barber-beauty shop. Except for a big tub and the cages lining one wall, all the accoutrements are there: blowers for pre-drying and for fluff drying (to make the coat stand out), creme rinses, no snarl formulas, fancy brands of hair shampoo.

Poodles have made up the majority of Ed Craig's customers to date, but the day we were there, a big, nine-year-old collie was next in line. Craig specialized in a scissors finish on poodles and many customers—after delivering a shaggy canine with mud-spattered paws—have trouble recognizing their own pet at pick-up time.

They just can't believe the sort of hobby. Pretty soon, I found myself doing all our friends' dogs—so I decided to go into the business."

A Full-Time Trade

A former school teacher, he signed up for school in New York; graduated with a license from the New York State Department of Education as a qualified dog groomer; now works full-time at his new profession.

Has he ever been bitten?

On more than one occasion, as a matter of fact. But he takes it in stride; still refuses to use tranquilizers, as others in his trade sometimes do. He thinks customers appreciate the fact that he would not resort to tranquilizers, maintains that gentleness is more important in getting a dog to settle into the grooming process without balking. Obviously no grudge-bearer about being bitten, Craig blames a past bad experience with another groomer or a veterinarian for a dog's bared teeth—a reaction to perhaps having been cut, previously.

In the short time his shop has been operating here in Kingston, he has groomed any and all kinds of dogs. To pretty up his canine customers, he gives them a bath, cleans their ears and eyes, brushes and cuts; will even polish nails on request.

Dogs Bigger Here

How do Ulster County dogs compare with the Manhattan canines he encountered in school? Craig says dogs here seem more well-fed and heavier. He has hefted some weighing as much as 100 pounds into the tub, including one standard poodle.

Are Ulsterites as interested in fancy attire for their pets as most Manhattan dog lovers seem to be? They are, indeed, and Craig has had so many requests for rhinestone collars, elaborate leashes and elegant

Spanish 'Navidad' Feature of Concert

A festive holiday concert will be offered by the Women's Chorale of State University College, New Paltz, on Monday evening, Dec. 14, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The concert will be presented in McKenna Theatre on campus. Lee H. Pritchard will conduct.

Paul Csonka's "Concierto de Navidad" (Christmas Concert) will feature in addition to the 60 voice Chorale, Ann Quimby Cotton, soprano, and Joyce Booher, harp. The work in three sections will be sung in Spanish, and is set to traditional Spanish religious texts. Also on the first portion of the program will be a group of six songs on seasonal texts, by the German composer, Hugo Wolf. Soloist in the Wolf songs will be Miss Barbara Hardgrave, soprano, assisted by Harry Jensen, piano, both of the New Paltz Music Department faculty.

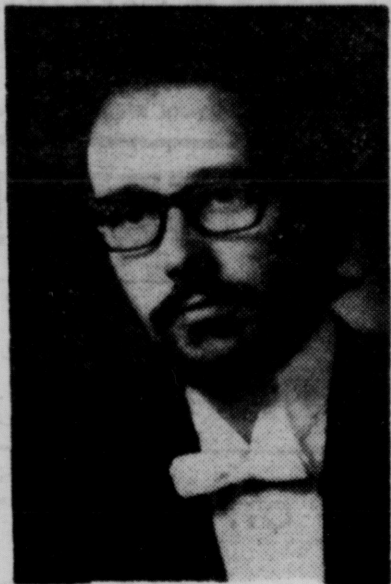

The final portion of the concert will feature a presentation of Benjamin Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols." The "Ceremony" is in several sections set to Old English texts by various authors. Sopranos Nancy Hunzinger, and Barbara Hardgrave will be accompanied by the Women's Chorale and Joyce Booher, harp.

Wesleyan Dancers

The "Ceremony of Carols" will be uniquely illustrated by the Wesleyan Dancers, a group of six performers who will interpret the carols through a contemporary dance expression. The dancers, from the greater Newburgh area, are sponsored by the Commission on Worship of Grace United Methodist Church in Newburgh. The group is directed by Judith Bennett of Cornwall; assistant director is Marion DuBois of Newburgh. Other dancers in the group are Diane Butt, Gladys Calvetti, Lynn Perrot, and Constance Stahl.

The public is cordially invited to this holiday concert, and there is no charge for admission.

30,000 Air Miles For 20th Odyssey

The shortest distance between 30,000 air miles and your living room is a sight line to your television screen.

For the eighth year, television is covering Bob Hope's Christmas activities, highlights of which will be shown Jan. 14 within that sight line over NBC, from 8:30 to 10 p.m. EST.

The 90-minute telecast will be an odyssey of Hope's 20th overseas trip with his troupe to entertain American servicemen.

The 16-day junket, covering 30,000 air miles, is cosponsored by the USO and the Department of Defense. It will include appearances in England, West Germany, at the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, Thailand, Vietnam and Korea. On the return home, there will be a stop-over at Alaska.

Among the artists who'll be seen on TV with Hope are Lola Falana, Bobbi Martin, Gloria Loring, the Goldiggers, Miss World 1971, and Johnny Bench, Cincinnati Reds catcher selected Most Valuable Player of the Year in the National League.

The troupe will return Dec. 29.

'The Nutcracker' Ballet Tonight

Selections from "The Nutcracker," to be presented at 7:30 p.m., tonight, Dec. 12, in Mount Saint Mary College Theatre by Orange County Ballet Theatre were shown on Channel 12, Newburgh, on four separate programs this week.

Channel 12 showed selected numbers filmed at a staging rehearsal last month at the Newburgh college. Interviews with members of Orange County Ballet Theatre and faculty and students from Mount Saint Mary College were also filmed.

The film was well received, as tonight's live performance is expected to be. All proceeds from the benefit performance of the Christmas ballet tonight will go to the "Million for the Mount" fund drive.

Principal roles will be danced by Misses Michelle Wilson, Barbara Hess, and Leslie Arron, all of Newburgh. Esteban de Leon and Tom Hester of New York City, and Larry Paveck, Highland Mills. More than 50 area young people will complete the cast.

Choreography, staging and direction of the production were done by Regis Powers, artistic director of the company; Elisabeth Schneider, formerly artistic director of the Dutchess County Ballet Company; and Merritt Thompson, whose last three credits before joining the staff of the Powers Dance Art Centre in 1967 were the London staging of the musicals, "Guys and Dolls," "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," and "Little Me." Tickets for the benefit performance may be obtained by calling the Mount Saint Mary Cultural Centre, Newburgh.

New Year's With Guy

"New Year's Eve with Guy Lombardo" is a 90-minute show that will be aired Dec. 31 beginning at 11:30 p.m. ABC Films will produce the program for the sixth successive year, feeding it across the country from New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel. The band leader and his group have been broadcasting annual salutes to a new Year since 1929, beginning on radio.

Craig credits his success to taking his time and turning out a well groomed dog. He also uses guards on his shears to prevent cutting or nicking a customer, a precaution that narrows down the margin of being bitten.

There may be more than one newspaper boy or mailman who feels, with good reason, that canines are not cuddly. But as far as Ed Craig of Mr. C's is concerned, the closer his proximity to dogs — the better. (By TOBIE GEERTSEMA)

Open Evenings 'til 9 'til Christmas

This Winter Wonderland Rates 'G' as Family Program

Besides a winter wonderland of family entertainment, "The Christmas Show" will feature the Estelle & Alfonso Chorale, a group of youngsters professionally trained by Charles Mack for this delightful holiday spectacle.

These young voices will echo sentimental and lively harmonies to dramatically define the Christmas season and enhance this spirited, frolicking, musical production which is set to appear at Poughkeepsie High School tonight, Saturday, Dec.

12 at 8 p.m. and tomorrow, Sunday, Dec. 13 at 2 and 6 p.m. A background of exquisite sets in addition to world famous "Dancing Waters" direct from Radio City Music Hall will be included in "The Christmas Show."

"The highly entertaining yule show will also include a special dramatic presentation leading into the Nativity scene which will include over one hundred performers. Lloyd and Ruth Waldon, who are in charge of sets for this holiday extravaganza, have designed the Bethlehem stable which will climax the solemn scene.

As a contrast, Candyland will appear in a set surrounded by elves, dolls and all sorts of Christmas delights. Novel routines choreographed by Estelle & Alfonso, will include tap, jazz, ballet, baton and acrobatics.

The Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and the arrival of Santa Claus will include the Pacers Polish-American Drum Corps and the Vagabonds Drum & Bugle Corps. This enchanting show will be climaxed by the giant fifty foot long fountains of "Dancing Waters" that will thrill the audience with its dynamic display of water ballet exactly as presented at Radio City Music Hall.

"The Christmas Show" has been designed for adults as well as children, to provide good family entertainment rated "G". Through Angelic Patrons and donors underprivileged children from various charitable schools will attend this kaleidoscopic fantasy. All three performances are benefits for the Ballet Company.

This Exhibit Provokes Whoos & Toots Aplenty

Because of an overwhelming turn out, the Orange County Railroad Memorabilia Exhibit will be extended to Dec. 27. The show is currently on display at the Hall of Fame of the Trotter, Goshen, and has provided many happy hours of entertainment for young and old alike. It will be a worthwhile outing for those whose interests include model railroads, antique trains or the new directions of the present day industry.

Hundreds of children thus far have enjoyed their story book train ride across the United States, at a successful Story Hour Program for preschoolers. While they are at the museum they are able to use a conductor's hoop to send messages, as well as try out dots and dashes on a telegraph key, and learn how important they were in the early days of railroading. In addition they go home with a conductor's cap which they make during their visit.

Many area schools have taken advantage of the exhibit to illustrate a lesson in transportation. The Port Jervis, Washingtonville and Warwick school systems, Day Care Groups, B.O.C.E.S. and numerous Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts have filled the gallery with hearty Whoos and Toots.

Any interested group may arrange a tour or just stop in with your family. The Hall of Fame hours are 10 to 5 weekdays, and 1:30 to 5 p.m. Sundays. Admission is free.

Two to Go Under Your Christmas Tree

Christmas is one holiday that should mean something more than tinsel, toys and outward show. And in this period of cynicism and materialism, one local community still manages to express the real meaning of Christmas.

With the holidays here, the Society of Brothers—that unique religious community at Rifton—has taken obvious care to produce a book and record combination to add appropriately to the Yule season.

The book, "THE SHEPHERD'S PIPE, Songs from the Holy Night," is a beautiful and infinitely precious tome, richly and stunningly illustrated in color by Maria Maendel. It is a virtual Christmas Cantata, and families that enjoy singing together will find much pleasure in this book, a volume that rejoices in bringing to Christmas something other than artificial trees and battery-operated breakables.

A Thing of Beauty

"The Shepherd's Pipe" is a beautiful anthology of Christmas materials, with words by Georg Johannes Gick, set to music for children's voices or youth choir by Marlys Swinger. If the book has at its center the fact of Christmas, all of the voices that speak through it are for every day and every time.

This is a book unique in that all words and music have been hand lettered with patience and love by Gillian Barth, and the volume itself is hand-sewn. Since publishing of this type is rare today, small wonder that this year, books produced by the Society of Brothers won the first, second and third prizes bestowed by the prestigious Printing Association.

The book makes for a highly original Christmas present for any youngster. It is full of music simple enough for anyone to sing yet rich enough for the accomplished. It can be enjoyed and cherished by the individual family, as well as church and school groups.

"Pipe" has long been a part of the Christmas experience in the communities of the Society of Brothers, founded in an effort to truly live out the Sermon on the Mount. Now this group, which has proved harmony and brotherhood is possible, shares its Yule tradition in print for others to enjoy and use.

Basis for Pageant

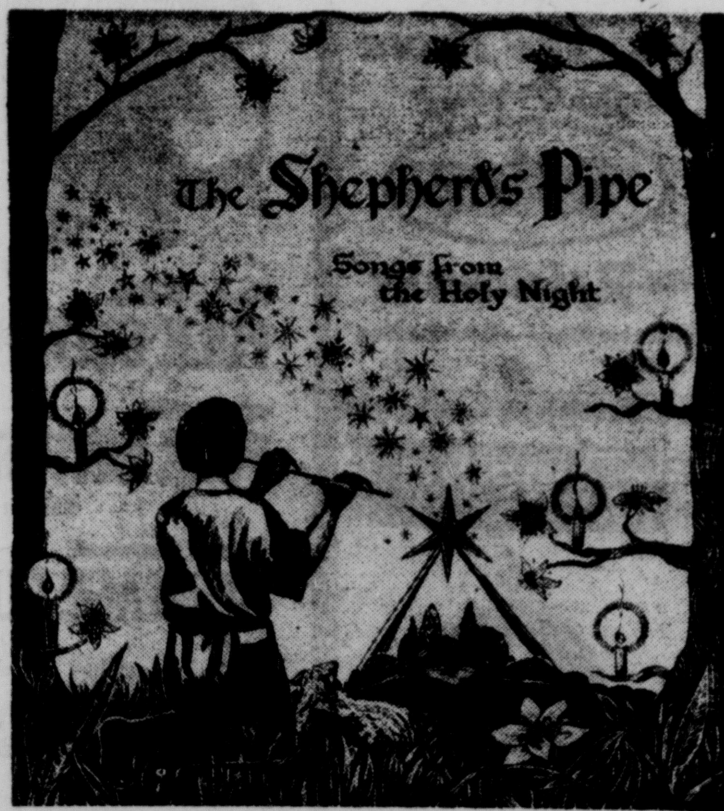

Pipe's collection of songs adds much to the Christmas canon; centers around the Stable on Christmas Night. The musical poems used were found in a bookshop in Germany in 1935; are joyous and unpretentious. A special section of the book describes how the Rifton community has used "Pipe" as a pageant.

Equally valuable is the record of the same title. Also a product of The Plough Publishing House at Rifton, it is again a Christmas Cantata, this time sung by 55 children in grades four through 12 from the Woodcrest Community at Rifton. With string quartet and piano accompaniment, the record evokes the simple beauty and genuine unpretentiousness of that Night of nights.

It is obvious that the Rifton children's choir enjoys singing these songs and their infectious enthusiasm makes for lively holiday listening.

Both the book and the record of "The Shepherd's Pipe" serve to remind us that the Christ child came not in gorgeous, gilded array, but as the poorest and humblest of creatures. Through the moving human drama conveyed in poetry and song, the mysteries of the little path, the bed of hay, the linden tree are revived for today.

From the Rifton community has come an inspired Yule offering to read, sing, play and listen to all through the year. We can imagine few other gifts that could convey so well the simplicity and beauty of Christmas. (T. G.)

COVER ILLUSTRATION for just published songbook is in four colors; was done by Maria Maendel, whose artistic talent seems to rejoice in bringing to Christmas something other than tinsel and outward show. Book can be purchased alone or with a companion record on which youthful members of the Society of Brothers at Rifton sing a Christmas cantata on a beautifully conceived album titled "The Shepherd's Pipe," which is also the title of the book.

Buy Them Together

Both the book and record are currently available at Kingston's Book Center. Each may be purchased alone (the book is $6.50; the record $3.98) but, together in combination, they will make a prized Christmas gift for any child at the slightly reduced price of $10.

Santa's Helpers Hawk Love Beads, Fight Pollution

The Christmas toy business is anything but child's play.

This year it will make more money than ever before, and produce more toys the makers say will be more lovable, more imaginative, safer, more educational, prettier, more relevant to today's world, and more fun than anything yet to come out of Santa's workshop.

Traditionally, there'll be something under the Christmas tree for everyone: mom, dad, and even the youngsters.

There will be dexterity games and mind teasers, cuddly toys for tiny tots, old favorites like trains and dolls, toys to play grown-up with for children, and toys for escaping the grown-up world for adults.

In the highly competitive world of playthings, 1970 sales in the United States at the manufacturers' level are expected to reach $2,343,000,000 including one estimate of $40 million worth of Teddy Bears.

Last year's retail sales approximated $3 billion, or about $55 for each of the 58 million American children under age 15, the National Geographic Society tells Tempo.

Toys quickly show signs of the times. Though even Bronze Age children were delighted by miniature battle-axes, war toys this year are way down in sales. But law-enforcement toys are up.

As one manufacturer puts it: "Guns seem to be all right as long as they come in a cowboy or police holster."

Some games preach the merits of conversation and fighting pollution. The winner of one such relevant contest is the first player able to get rid of his pile of toy trash.

On the other hand, pollution fighters have picketed stores selling a realistic play dump truck that emits realistic exhaust.

Christmas morning some children may unwrap love bead kits, others child-sized wigs just like mommy's and designed to be washed and set.

Little girls will be imitating their mothers as much as ever in fully equipped junior-sized laundries and kitchens.

Little boys will be whizzing along at 4 to 5 miles an hour behind the wheel of a motorized mini-car, dune buggy, or snowmobile.

Dolls will be more lifelike than ever, including some programmed to respond to voice commands. And it's believed that this year the electric train will chug back into the hearts of fathers and sons.

An astrology fad has conjured up a variety of fortune telling charts, wands, horoscopes, witches' outfits, artificial cobweb-spinning kits, crystal balls, and other trappings of make-believe supernatural. In another out-of-this-world trend, outer space toys are still a rocketing success. Predicted blast-off favorites at the toy store: space suits complete with life-support systems and air-filled shoes to simulate weightlessness.

Toymakers note a switch in emphasis from toys that do things to toys that stimulate youngsters to do things. These include junior grade computers, and—for the most returnable Christmas present of 1970—a left-handed boomerang.

'The Peloponnesian War' A Powerhouse Solo Hit

Daniel Nagrin will dance his contemporary masterpiece, "The Peloponnesian War," at a performance which Nagrin describes as a dance-theater collage. The performance will be at the Orange County Community College concert on Monday evening, Dec. 14, in the college's Orange Hall theater, Middletown.

"Shattering," "thought-provoking" and "bewildering."

A Poetry Prize For James Clarke

James J. Clarke, an English instructor at Ulster County Community College, has won the Eloise Kelley Adamson Memorial award for 1970 from the Poetry Society of Texas.

He received the $100 award for his poem, entitled "ix".

Clarke has been active in writing poetry and has won 11 previous contests with his poems, including the 1970 Stanley Corpew Paul Prize from the Poetry Society of Virginia, the Hallmark Poetry Prize, and the Arizona State Poetry Society contest. Forty of his poems have been published, including five in anthologies, and he also has written three children's books.

A resident of Kingston, he attended Union Junior College and received his B.A. Degree in English from Newark State College. He obtained his M.A. Degree in English from Montclair State College and has taken additional courses in English at New York University.

A Saroyan Play By Drama Club

"Hello Out There," a one-act play by William Saroyan, will be presented by the Columbia-Greene Community College Drama Club tonight, Dec. 12, 7:30 p.m. at the Father Casey Hall, Route 385, Athens. Admission is $.50.

The play is directed by Sheldon Lawrence of Hudson. Members of the cast are Wayne Lashway, Chatham; Drisilla Sikora, Kinderhook; William Pitcher, Chatham; James Campbell, Athens; Vickie Rasmussen, Athens; Mark Halmer, Coxsack; and Sheldon Lawrence, Hudson. The set was constructed by Peter Ronsani of Hudson. Elizabeth Torkilson of Elizaville is in charge of make-up and Nancy Wheeler of Hudson will act as prompter.

Walter D. Reinsendorf, Assistant Professor of English at Columbia-Greene is Drama Club Advisor.

The Everglades

"Our Unique Water Wilderness — The Everglades" will be the topic of the Third Audubon Lecture at Orange County Community College on Wednesday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Naturalist William A. Anderson will narrate his color film of the cypress swamp, sea of sawgrass and hardwood hammock that shelter such Everglades animals as the panther and painted bunting, the crocodile and cottonmouth, the spoonbill and snowy egret.

Admission to the Middletown campus program is 50 cents for students and $1.50 for adults.

have been descriptions of the powerful two-hour solo performance which Nagrin describes as a dance-theater collage.

Reserved seats for the 8:30 p.m. Lyceum Series performance are available through the office of the dean of students at OCCC. Admission is $2 for adults and 50 cents for students.

An Indictment

"Nagrin is a fine dancer, with excellent modern dance technique and a real gift for pantomime," reports the critic of the Kalamazoo, Michigan

Gazette. "His 'Peloponnesian War' is more than an aesthetic experience, however. It's an intelligent and profound indictment of war."

Glenn Loney, writing in the August 1970 Dance Magazine, notes that, "Each one can take from the work what he wills. Part of its richness is precisely in the (Nagrin's) capacity to stimulate image extensions in the spectators' minds, to allow a variety of interpretations."

"The Peloponnesian War" was created by dancer Nagrin while he was artist-in-residence at the State University of New York College at Brockport, and was made possible by grants from the New York State Council on the Arts and the National Council on the Arts and Humanities.

It was premiered in New York City at the Cubiculo workshop established by Philip Meister and Elaine Sulka of the National Shakespeare Company. There it enjoyed three separate runs, December 1968, May-June 1969, and October 1969.

Christmas Season Treat

From there it moved to the WBAI Free Music Store where the dancewar played every other night during the Christmas season last year, and was extended through April on weekends. Major portions of the audiences for the WBAI run were made up of young people and those seeing the dance four fourth, fifth and more times.

Nagrin's OCCC performance is part of a two-day visit to the college. On Tuesday, Dec. 15, he will teach an open class in modern dance from 10 a.m. to noon in the Orange Hall gymnasium and then will present an open lecture-demonstration from 2 to 3:30 p.m., again in the college gym.

An 'a cappella' Work Featured in Concert Of Yule Choral Music

Vassar College Choir and Williams College Choral Society will present a Christmas Concert on Sunday (Dec. 13) at 7:30 p.m. in Vassar Chapel.

Combined works to be presented will include a motet set in variation form by Johannes Brahms, entitled "O Heiland reiss die Himmel auf," and two motets by Anton Bruckner, "Os Vusti" and "Ave Maria." The featured work of the evening will be Krzysztof Penderecki's "Stabat Mater," a modern work for three choirs, a cappella.

In addition, the Vassar Choir will sing two choruses from Brahms' "Drei Geistliche Chöre": "O Bone Jesu" and "Adoramus," and two motets by Michael Praetorius based on the well known chorale melodies, "Nun freut euch lieben Christen gmein" and "Vom Himmel hoch da komm ich her." Donald M. Pearson, professor of music and college organist, will perform Johann Pachelbel's setting of "Vom Himmel hoch da komm ich her."

Jameson Marvin, assistant professor of music, will conduct the entire Christmas Concert. Marvin was appointed conductor of the Vassar Choir in February, 1970.

He holds a Bachelor of Arts in music theory-history from the University of California at Santa Barbara, a Master of arts in choral conducting from Stanford University, and is completing a dissertation for the Doctor of Musical Arts degree in choral music from the University of Illinois. Before coming to Vassar he was instructor in music and conductor of the Lehigh University Glee Club.

Handel's Messiah

Would any holiday season be complete without a salute to Handel's Messiah?

Absolutely not! Ergo, the Mid-Hudson Madrigal Singers have made certain that this year's Yule festivities will include same. The Singers invite one and all to a public reading of the Christmas portion of Handel's legendary musical work. Presentation is set for Monday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m.

in St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Route 212, Woodstock.

Also open to the public is an open rehearsal of the program, slated for Monday, Dec. 14 at 8 p.m. and again at St. Gregory's Church.

Not a Formal Affair

The Madrigalists point out that this will not be a formal concert, but should have vast appeal for all those interested in reading the score or just listening to the music. Extra scores of the music will be made available.

So, tell your friends and go join with the Madrigal Singers for a free evening of the finest in Christmas music.

Burn!

There is cause for rejoicing in this column this week. Marlon Brando, an actor who once laid claim to our fierce loyalty but had moved us little in his last four or five films, has turned up in an excellent historical drama.

And — HIP! HIP! HOORAY! — he gives his finest performance in years.

Brando's back with a bang in "Burn!" The film, now showing at Kingston's Community, allows him to prove himself anew as one of the finest actors of the day. He gives an interesting and top-notch performance as a 19th century political gent. Into the role, he has put flair and emotion, color and identity.

The story is concerned with a revolution on a Caribbean Island, a Portuguese colony of vast sugar plantations. With high drama, it traces the revolt of the natives from instigation to stimulation to manipulation. Brando begins as a British agent of the 1850's who arrives on the scene to work at breaking Portuguese control without plunging the residents into warfare. As a spotlight on nationalist uprisings in exploited countries, the film is almost a documentary.

Enslaved Anew

Brando tutors a spirited slave (Jose Dolores) into freeing his people and establishing a new regime. But trouble breaks out again when business as usual makes the freedmen virtual slaves anew, exploited under their puppet regime as they were under the colonialists.

In an interesting plot twist, Brando is called in again — this time to work towards the destruction of his own creation.

Filmed in Morocco and the Virgin Islands — and in France and Italy — "Burn!" profits from authentic backgrounds and native languages.

Kudos to Gillo Pontecorvo (who was responsible for "The Battle of Algiers" three years ago) for returning Brando to the screen as a gentle-man-adventurer, and for discovering Evaristo Marquez (a simple Colombian farmer) to play the part of Jose.

This is a glittering movie of pride and passion, set in the vintage and all by the "Dean conflict between hordes of colonial soldiers and imported mercenaries, and masses of victimized slaves. A pertinent film, it moves along dramatically with a fascinating electricity.

The 400 Blows

This French classic of 1959 is back for a well-deserved rerun at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema. It's a memorable study of an adolescent boy, neglected by his selfish parents, who discovers some unpleasant facts about life.

The boy is played with great sensitivity by Jean-Pierre Leaud. A touching film that moved many when it was first released, it also boasts excellent photography and superb editing — both of which help to set the mood of the story.

"Blows" alone would, of course, be entertainment wealth enough — but the Woodstock moviehouse is offering a trio of goodies for the holidays. Also featured on the triple bill there currently are the hilariously funny and totally excellent "Jules and Jim," and the superlative and dramatic "Shoot the Piano Player." All pride and passion, set in the vintage and all by the "Dean conflict between hordes of the New Cinema Wave."

GIG YOUNG, who won an Oscar for his last year's performance in "They Still Kill Horses, Don't They?", gives another fine characterization in "LOVERS AND OTHER STRANGERS," the comedy that's now playing into its fourth week at Kingston's Mayfair.

Truffault, they are all well truly marvelous comedy about love, marriage and sex. In the original Broadway version, the people involved were Jewish. The movie has peopled its script with good, middleclass Italian-

Lovers and Other Strangers

Kingston audiences have been singing the praises of this film and, as a result, it's been held over for a fourth week at the local Mayfair.

That's probably acclaim enough, but if you still haven't seen it, we can only add our recommendation. It is indeed a

LEE MARVIN and JACK PALANCE in "Monte Walsh," the film about rugged cowboys who must face the fact that their way of life in the West is drawing to a close. The movie, which also stars Jeanne Moreau, France's most celebrated export, is the current attraction at both the Rosendale Theatre and Red Hook's Lyceum.

MOVIES

Americans — and the switch works just fine.

The cast is superlative, with excellent performances from Gig Young, Anne Jackson, Cloris Leachman, Bea Arthur, Richard Castellano and Harry Guardino, all with years of acting behind them. Bright new talents include Bonnie Bedelia and Michael Brandon as the "lovers" of the title.

A Moving Story

Few movies in the recent past have evoked so much laughter, tenderness, tears and drama realistic enough to move audiences as this film. The story of two young people who decide to marry after living together secretly for more than a year, it is hilarious fare. While the boy broods that a trek to the altar might well end a beautiful romance, relatives and friends go ahead with frenzied wedding plans.

Both marriage and divorce are handled with realism and tenderness in the film. There is an old-fashioned quaintness to this modern day and memorable tale of a couple who exchange vows as a means of resuming their honeymoon — legally.

Monte Walsh

It is spring in the late 1880's, and Monte Walsh (Lee Marvin), a man content with the world as it is, and Chet Rollins (Jack Palance) ride into the dusty little cowtown of Harmony, bewhiskered from the winter range. Offered a job by Eastern capital, they accept — realizing the world of the cowboy is slowly fading.

Out on the range, their sidekicks live in the glory of the past and bemoan the present. Relaxing in harmony, they become involved in card games, free-for-all fights in saloons, and love affairs. Marvin's girl is a saloon hostess, played by France's Jeanne Moreau.

More than just a Western, "Monte Walsh" is a nostalgic salute to a way of life and a breed of men on the edge of extinction as corporations buy up the ranges. There are spectacular action scenes, including a round-up of a herd of mustangs, a melee in the bunkhouse, lots of gunplay, and a rip-snorting bronc-busting episode in a Wild West show.

Told with much affection, "Monte Walsh" captures the mood of men who see their lives slipping away. Marvin is fine as the man who refuses to "spit on his whole life" in this vastly interesting film now on screen at the Rosendale Theatre.

Joe

If you felt "Easy Rider" had no merit, if you cared little for "Easy Rider," you will probably not like "Joe," the film held over yet again at Hyde Park's Roosevelt.

The plot of "Joe" depends to a large extent on flower children and bigots. The title refers to Joe Curran, a typical or not-so-typical hardhat — depending on which side you're on. For him, liberals and commies are one and the same, as are blacks and middle-class white kids of revolutionary bent. As for homosexual and welfare, Joe can become violent on the subjects.

For this reviewer, personally, "Joe" is one of the MUST SEE films of the year. The performance by newcomer Peter Boyle as Joe is the stuff of which Oscar nominations are made. He fills the screen with raw hatred in a savage movie that has to rank as one of the finest social commentaries of today.

A rare honesty and realism pervade the movie, and its story has something highly important to say. It manages to say it sensitively in spite of mass murder and violence; impresses for its authenticity, in stressing our innumerable contemporary problems.

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

'Tis the season of predictions. And if West Park's Josie Schmidt keeps bookin' "vibrations" like last week's Howard Rust Trio, we foresee The Hedges bushin' out into THE night spot of the area.

John Ray Mayones with Gil Gray had ringside seats on main dining room's squared-off dance floor which was small 'nuf to be cozy but large 'nuf to prevent "excuse me's." The Lou Kayes and Bernie Feeneys (Sr.) hardly missed a number. Both gals were decked out in pantsuits and either one could've filled in as tree-top decor on Christmas balsam. (Not sure where Mrs. F. bought her outfit out two-to-one you can hazard-a-guess from whence Mrs. K.'s ensemble hailed.)

Flock of Kingston bowlers makin' merry at Yuletide shindig. There were Ruth Frederick, Bill Mohr, Tom DePuy, past president John Frederick, new president Bob Burgher, top bowler Larry Petersen, Jack Spader, John Sisko, Ed Thomas, Jerry Howland, Arnold Terpening, Gordon Miller, Jake Smith, Harry Lowe Jr. — all with their leading ladies, naturally. Understand moola made from sale of bowling derbies—hats, that is — supplied loot for gala.

Bill and Carrie Mohr were celebratin' 40th wedding anniversary. Howard Rust Trio played Anniversary Waltz while honored couple smooched obligingly on dance floor. After 40 years, too. Imagine! (By the way, Howard Rust's mother is a professional Swiss yodeler. Yes, we told you before, but did you remember?)

Tim McGuire led six cool "kittens" in Trio's version of Alley Cat which viewers called "cat's meow." (Tim got lowdown on high-steps last summer while bartendin' at Twin Lakes.) Overlappin' one another and enjoyin' it at the bar where Bob Kickson and Ed Shannon. Ed, former owner of Woodstock's Brass Rail, Rifton's Black Swan, and Schoentag's (before it took-to-cinders), is now thinkin' 'bout his 25th venture in joy juice trade. George Papp, Marist College senior who teaches English at KHS, was regular Walter Winchell, fillin' in info 'bout distinguished guests. One gal asked: "You come here often?" Smilin' Sam, the bartender, chimed in: "That's like askin' 'Is the Pope Catholic?'"

Seems several Hedges' employees were-or-are Marist students who earn bread there part time while studyin', then come back when they're makin' a mint to share a bit o' bread with former boss lady and pal Josie. George Papp — also bygone Hedges' worker — is still grinnin' 'cause Marist went co-ed. Unfortunately, this year when greatest group o' gals is attendin', he's livin' OFF campus. However, when Rosemary Rhodes and Kathy Cambone came in, George suddenly pulled vanishin' act in lounge and joined their table. So, evidently, he hasn't lost touch!

One of eagerest-of-busy-beavers is Florida-bred Ray Roland who waits tables, tends bar, is entranced by snow, and keeps customers comin' 'cause of his spirited gift-of-gab. If happiness is catching, Ray's contagious.

Seems Josie Schmidt's found way of "makin' waves" by bridging generation gap. Even so, when young-and-old-alike start tradin' groovy quips 'bout "The Hedges," please be so good as to remember where you read the forecast first!

Dirksen Special In Yule Repeat

WNHC-TV will present AT CHRISTMAS TIME WITH SENATOR EVERITT MCKINLEY DIRKSEN Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. The special is a traditional feature of channel 8's holiday programming.

The one-hour colorcast will feature the late Senator from Illinois, joined by his wife, Louella, his daughter and son-in-law, Senator and Mrs. Howard Baker, and some neighboring children of his Sterling, Virginia home where the program was filmed.

Of particular interest will be the late Senator's golden voice and words, heard in an original Christmas carol and his intermittent story telling between Favorites such as "First Noel," "Joy to the World," and "Silent Night" are played an sung by the John Cacavas Orchestra and Chorus.

Victor Borge Brand of Wit

RECORDING STAR BENNY BERMAN brings his own individualistic brand of singing and story telling to Kingston tonight. A talented entertainer, Berman has been acclaimed as "Israel's answer to Victor Borge." The guitarist-singer-comedian will be the featured performer at "Night-club Maccabee," when festivities kick off at 8:30 p.m. at Congregation Ahavath Israel on Lucas Avenue here. The gala holiday event is being sponsored by Kingston's Jewish Community Council; also features Ron Sanders and his Novo International folk dance group; is open to the public.

Second Sessions For Art Classes

A second session of Portraiture Painting and another of Beginner's and Intermediate Painting are in the offing for the New Paltz Art Association.

The follow-up sessions, coming after successful fall classes, will again see Woodstock artist Franklin Alexander instructing in Portraiture, and Dr. Henry Raleigh, of New Paltz offering the Painting course.

Association members say they benefited substantially from the fall session; are pleased that Dr. Raleigh and Alexander will be available for new courses after the New Year.

Beginners and all others interested in taking either course, or in joining the New Paltz Art Association, should contact Mrs. Marge Sheldon at 255-1675.

Big Town Promises Warm Winter; Free Folder Spots All the Action

Ice skating at Rockefeller Center! Basketball, boxing, hockey, tennis and track at Madison Square Garden! The National Boat Show at the Coliseum! Yes, with "The Rothschilds" on Broadway and Dame Judith as "Hamlet" at Carnegie Hall, it's going to be a hot time in the Big Town this winter!

And if "Oh! Calcutta!" can keep warm, so can you, says the N.Y. Convention & Visitors Bureau. Its free folder, "New York in Winter," will tell you where all the December-February action is. For a free copy, drop a card to 90 E. 42nd Street, N.Y.C. 10017.

Wintertime in New York City is a perfect time to catch the great museums, and they're ready for you. Among the dramatic new shows are: Vincent van Gogh at the Brooklyn, the Photo Show at the Metropolitan, "Visions of Harlem" at the Modern, and "Women Artists" at the Whitney (which should please the Lady Libbers).

Like to play the market? Check up on your investments at the Stock Exchanges, both of which offer free tours. Job got you down? Learn how to "Start Your Own Business" at the Coliseum.

Falk Directs

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Harry Falk, Patty Duke's ex-husband, will direct two episodes of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" at MGM.

Summer Shows

ABC has signed Val Doonican, popular British recording and video performer, to do at least 10 musical-variety shows next summer. The series will originate in London.

ERNESTLY SPEAKING

THE ODDS ARE RIGHT!

One of our steady patrons, who has a pretty good opinion on horses and football (and, obviously, on good food!) gave me an idea about advertising our Dinners. He says the combination of Cuisine, Atmosphere and Value at ROBERTO'S is so outstanding that, instead of merely telling people how good we are, we should suggest a friendly wager in which "Heads they win, Tails we lose" . . . because I'd be giving odds like umpty-seven to nothing! I've got to go along with his track record, so here's my "friendly wager" . . .

I say that no restaurant even remotely in ROBERTO'S category, within a hundred miles of Legion Court, matches our Dinners for Class, Completeness and Cost (I could add Cuisine, but that can be a matter of personal taste.) Any time you dine at ROBERTO'S, show me a menu of any Restaurant between Manhattan and Albany in our category that offers what we give you for the price we charge, and I'll send a BOTTLE OF CHAMPAGNE to your table, compliments of the house!

SCENE AT ROBERTO'S

Among those pleasant last week: The Lawlis' table featured some visitors: In addition to Kingston's own Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Lawlis and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Cherry Hill) Forcino, there were Miss Alice Angelo, of Syracuse, Mr. and Mrs. James Berardi, Jr., of Bloomington, and Mr. and Mrs. James Marino, of J. M. Farms, Mt. Marion. . . . At the Weishaupt table, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weishaupt, Frank and Kathy Ambrose, Donald and Joan Kamosa (all of Kingston) and Tom and Kathy Guarino, from Garden City, N. Y., were celebrating a double occasion: The Weishaupts' 11th Anniversary and Don Kamosa's Birthday (number unspecified!) . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Torrisi also celebrating an Anniversary . . . A familiar table, illuminated by the gregarious Griggs' with Master Richard W. Griggs III, with their Port Ewen coterie . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Henry, Mrs. Charles Perry and daughter Cookie. No special occasion, says Dick . . . "JUST HUNGRY!" . . . Ditto Kingstoner Jay Martin and spouse, whose occasion was just "Dinner For Two" (an elegant idea at ROBERTO'S any time.) . . . Another "repeater" table: George and Martha, of the Park Diner, with Mr. and Mrs. John Scully. Incidentally, they made their reservations for NEW YEAR'S EVE AT ROBERTO'S, . . . which is as good a cue as I'll ever get for a "commercial." This one is about our gala

NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY on Thursday, Dec. 31 (where else but at ROBERTO'S). We're moving MARK GARRISON into the dining room, with his Hammond and a special New Year's Eve Dance Combo.

Over and above the Dancing 'til Dawn, Mark is getting together a "Midnight Matinee" floor show featuring a lot of the talented patrons who enliven the weekly "Saturday Singalong Soirees" here at ROBERTO'S Cocktail Lounge. More definite information next issue, but for those who prefer to dine early, ROBERTO'S definitely will serve its regular Dinner at regular prices. Watch this "colyum" next week for all the details.

MISH AND MASH

That new "Information Form" we've put on the tables is working fine, but, honestly, we didn't put that heading "Remarks" in just to fish for compliments. Not that we don't like 'em, but the idea was to get you folks to give us any information about yourself or guests that might be interesting to other ROBERTO diners. . . . Incidentally, to the gentleman who wrote us a glowing tribute last week (even unto praising his waiter, Duane) . . . you forgot to give us your name! . . . Remember, ROBERTO'S will NOT BE OPEN on Christmas Eve (for Dinner) nor all day Christmas Day; but we'll be open on Wednesday (Dec. 23), our usual day off. . . . LUNCHEON IS A LOVELY THING AT ROBERTO'S; if you have Holiday Visitors around midday, tootle them over for a Continental Luncheon, with Entrees from $1.75, INCLUDING Soup, Vegetable and Potato, and Coffee or Tea. . . . Still Time to arrange a Luncheon, Cocktail or Dinner PARTY AT ROBERTO'S. Call or drop in for ideas, menus and prices to fit your palate as well as your pocketbook. . . . That's it for today . . . got to do my homework on the big New Year's Eve Celebration coming up.

VOERG HAS The Better Small Car For 1971 MERCURY COMET

Available in
2 and 4 door sedans

$2217

How do you make a better small car? Mercury's got the answer. Take the best small car ideas, like easy handling, simplified maintenance, low price and great gas mileage. Add big car styling without skimping on extras. Make big car performance available with a choice of three lively six-cylinder engines or a potent 302-2V V-8 that can all use 91 octane regular gas. Result: the all-new Comet for 1971.

The Comet 2-door sedan shown here has the exterior decor group option which includes rocker panel moldings, upper bodyside and bright roof moldings, bright window frames, wheel covers and deluxe gas cap.

The Adventures of Tiny Turtle

After the chores are done, Tiny goes to his room to pack his things, for his visit to the Farm is over.

At the Farm Gate, Tiny says "Good-by" to Rover, then he begins his journey back home.
